Superintendent gives school opening B+

by Arlene Surprenant

The opening of the 1985-86 school year in Wilmington was accorded a B+ by Supt. Robert Horan at Tuesday night's school committee meeting.

Horan, who visited each school during the day, told board members that, "in general, things opened smoothly." Buses posed the biggest problem as many arrived at schools earlier than expected because of new drivers and the 90 minute delayed opening. Some adjustments in bus routes also had to be made.

Another concern was the safety of high school students crossing Church Street and Middlesex Avenue to go to the high school from the Swain School. Horan pointed out that a letter requesting a crossing guard had been sent to Police Chief Bobby Stewart. In the meantime, crossing lines have been painted across those streets, and a police cruiser was stationed by the school to slow down traffic. A blinking light, he added, was also being pursued.

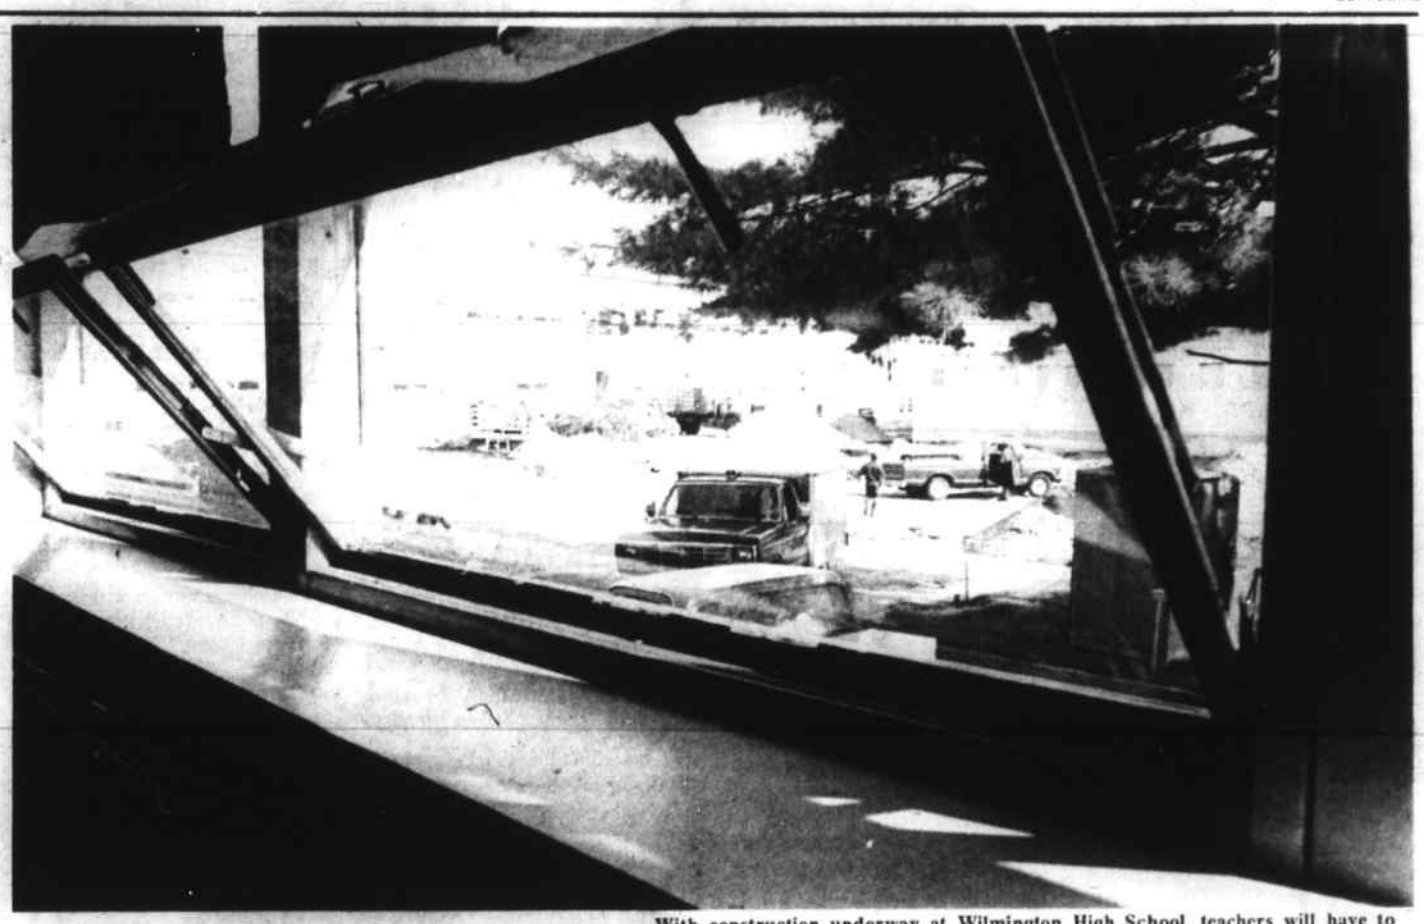

Committeeman Phil Fenton, who disagreed with Horan's estimate and rated the opening a C-, requested a letter be sent to Town Manager Buzz Stapczynski bringing the "dangerous" situation to his attention as "I don't want some child killed.

Room problems also "caused some difficulty" at the high school, said Horan, as they were blocked off due to construction. This is an area Horan is presently addressing, though with construction underway, further problems of this type may crop up, he added. The reading room, especially, was criticized as being too dark and warm for students to use comfortably as its windows were boarded up. PBC members have agreed to bring in a fan for that room and possibly punch holes in it for ventilation, said PBC Chairman Diane Allan, later in the evening.

Enrollment is stable, said Horan, although kindergarten enrollment is slightly higher than anticipated. Parents were told at one elementary school orientation last week week that class sizes ranged from 26 to 28 children.

Horan explained that "cross-town movement" and late registration on the part of some parents altered the original class sizes. Though he doesn't anticipate any difficulties at this time, Horan reserved the right to ask the school committee for an extra teacher's aide aide in each class should class sizes go any higher.

Parent Rose Murray brought two problems to the board's attention. One was a "very dangerous situation" at the corner of Lake Street and Grove Avenue where waiting school children are in danger from speeding cars. The other was the presence of broken glass on the Shawsheen School tennis courts where students play during recess. Horan assured her he would try to resolve both problems.

Daydreaming 101

With construction underway at Wilmington High School, teachers will have to compete with outdoor activity for students' attention. This view from Room 123 shows the area to be occupied by the new cafeteria, where excavation and soil testing are underway.

Renovation project moving ahead

by Arlene Surprenant

Steady progress, though not highly visible from the outside, is being made on the high school renovation project.

"Jobs like this start kind of slow. . . it's now beginning to move," artchitect Wilson Rains of Design Partnership told the Permanent Building Committee (PBC) at its Tuesday night's meeting.

So far, footings are in place are in place in the library and art media area with foundations expected to be started there soon. Workers are finishing up grading and clearing out rubbish, preparatory to work being done on the new gym. And footings are now being placed in the new cafeteria area.

The maintenance building will be moved to the football field and enclosed in a fence by the second week in September, explained PBC Chairman Diane Allan. At a later date, that building will be utilized as a storage facility by the athletic department.

In a few weeks, added Allan, the existing septic tank will be demolished and replaced with a new system. This will be done along with footings and foundations being laid for the new gymnasium.

Plumbers and electricians have shown up to take stock of their various jobs.

During the meeting, PBC members chose a third type of brick for the outside of the school building and approved a double-glazed window with screens, which is "one grade up" from the original one suggested for the library and new cafeteria. They also decided to change the glass doors at the new gym entrance to wooden doors, in the interests of safety.

Residents to get electric rate cut

The September light bills, to residents of Wilmington and other towns served by the Reading Municipal Light Dept. (RMLD) will have $5 credit.

The RMLD is now receiving credit for hydro-electric power from the New York Power Authority. It is one of a number of municipal systems receiving that power, all of them part of the Massachusetts Municipal Wholesale Electric Company (MMWEC). MMWEC has proven in court that it is entitled to the use of power from the NYPA under a 1957 Federal law.

The initial allotment to Massachusetts was for about 5000 kilowatts (KW). After successfully arguing before the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission that the allocation for Massachusetts should be received., MMWEC saw the state's share revised to 48,500 KW. Of this, Reading will receive 3701 KW.

Because certain preference customers in Ohio and Pennsylvania are, at this time, unable to receive their allocations of NYPA power, the Massachusetts allocation has been increased to 66,700 KW on a temporary basis. Reading's share of this is 5089 KW.

The formal revised contracts have not yet been negotiated. A ten-year period is anticipated. It is also anticipated that power from the NYPA St. Lawrence Project, another hydro-electric facility, will be added to the allocation.

The FERC has recently turned down several requests to have a re-hearing of the decision to increase out-of-state allocations of New York power. This may result in a still greater allocation to Massachusetts municipal light departments. Gross savings for the Massachusetts municipals from these allotments should range between $140 and $150 million over the contract period., the RMLD said.

New York state law governing the operation of the NYPA requires that the sale of low- cost hydro-electric power should be for the sole benefit of residential customers.

New quarters for counseling service

by Arlene Surprenant

Do you find yourself becoming more depressed each day?

Does the thought of leaving your home to go shopping leave you full of unexplained anxiety?

Are you having difficulty coping with stress or helping a family member who's "spaced out" on drugs?

If so, you might want to take advantage of the special help available through Wilmington Family Counseling Service, Inc. (WFCS).

According to WFCS Director, Dr. Carol Golub, approximately 90 percent of clients queried feel they have been helped by the non-profit agency she's headed for the past 16 years.

The treatment center, for those of you unfamiliar with its workings, is a mental health agency dedicated to providing quality service at low cost and a time convenient to client's work and school schedules. Anyone - child, adolescent, or adult - can find help simply by picking up the phone and making an appointment. The office remains open day or night for clients' convenience.

WFCS is subsidized by the town of Wilmington through a line item in the Board of Health budget. The sliding fee to residents is usually between $5 and $40 and is set according to income and number of dependents. Health insurance may also cover all or part of the service.

This year - its 18th year in business - the agency is undergoing change. Besides bringing up their staff to six members, WFCS has just completed a move from its old quarters on Church Street. The agency is now located in a brand new office on Main Street in the Presidential Park office building across from Dunkin' Donuts. The comfortable, home-like atmosphere in the three room office, says Dr. Golub proudly, "is really giving us a new lease on life."

Now, she explains, "we've gotten to the point where we have to be more visible in town. We would also like to make some kind of significant dent in the community."

The family counseling service was first opened in response to a need, explains Dr. Golub in an early morning interview. People like the late Emil Berger and members of the Wilmington Council of churches, who were the driving force behind WFCS, felt the nearest facility - the Solomon Mental Health Clinic in Lowell was "too far removed from Wilmington."

So the idea of Wilmington's own facility was born. The agency's first board of directors included such concerned residents as Jim Banda, John Imbimbo, Ralph Lepore, and Stanley Webber. This board helped organize the service and hired the first director, who only served a short time before Dr. Golub took over.

Today's Board of Directors presently consists of 11 residents elected for three year terms. They are Dr. John Marshall (president), Mildred Wollf (vice-Pres.), Richard Meegan (treasurer), Anna Low (secretary), Florence Athanasia, Charlotte Stewart and Elizabeth White. New this year are Jane Accardi, Elaine Hachey, James Palman and John Perry.

Dr. Golub adds quickly that they are continually seeking new members and two of them ususally represent the Council of Churches.

The agency is careful to hire staff with a variety of specialities so it can reach people with all types of problems, ranging from adults who need help with parenting skills to suicidal types or adolescents with behavioral or emotional problems.

Staff members are well-qualified in their own fields and have a strong commitment to helping others, says Dr. Golub, adding that "most of us see ourselves as a team."

Besides Dr. Golub, who has been a psychologist for 20 years, there are licensed psychologists Robert Hartl, Fred Rothbaum, and Dr. Richard Higgins, and a Licensed Independent Clinical Social Worker Barbara Goldsher.

Goldsher, who works with troubled adoleslcents, and Dr. Higgins, who is the former clinical director of SHARE and works with substance abusers, are the newest staff personnel. Through Dr. Higgins, they hope to focus on those addicted to drugs and alcohol or those who suspect their drinking is getting out of hand. He was hired, said Dr. Golub, in response to the town's concern with substance abuse.

Clients who come in are assigned a therapist who sees them on a weekly basis, usually for a three to six month period. Anything that goes on between client and therapist is kept strictly confidential, stresses Dr. Golub. Besides listening, therapists teach patients new strategies in learning to cope with various situations or problems and they go out of their way to make the client feel comfortable.

Of their patients, she adds, approximately 50 percent are adults with emotional problems, 20 percent are adults who come in for marriage counseling, and 30 percent are children and adolescents. The agency usually handles 60 to 70 families a month.

"We don't have all the answers,"

Coming Attractions

By William Pacino

Participate in the largest bike festival in Boston's history. On Saturday, Sept. 14th, major roads in Boston will be closed to traffic for a unique opportunity to ride with many other cyclists in a relaxing tour around the city. The name of this festival is the GRAPE NUTS AMERICAN BIKE FESTIVAL and the proceeds from this event will go to three non-profit bicycle organizations in the Boston Area; Boston Area Bike Coalition, American Youth Hostels, and the Charles River Wheelmen. This event is now in the news so riders can register. For further information, write to: Boston Area Bike Coalition, P.O. Box 1015, Kendall Square Branch, Cambridge, MA. 02142, or call 491-RIDE. An entry fee will go to supporting the sponsors of the festival and will entitle the entrant to free gifts and prize drawings.

GRAPE-NUTS AMERICAN BIKE FESTIVAL

Use your mind

How is the "family hour" spent in the 1980's? The phrase used to conjure up images of mom, pop, and the kids all gathered around the television set for an evening of the network's finest. But with network television's offerings becoming weaker with each season, many escapist entertainment buffs are turning in an old friend — their radios. The newest choice in prime time entertainment is also the oldest: Radio Classics, now being broadcast from 8 to 10 PM on NEWSRADIO 590 WEEI-AM.

According to Bruce Lee, host of the WEEI 590 Radio Classics program, "People are becoming very tired of the television fare that is available. So suddenly something comes along where you are forced to use your imagination to envision the story line".

WEEI 590 broadcasts three classic radio shows every evening, with varying formats including comedy, drama, adventure, mystery and variety programs. Some of the program names should be familiar — Dragnet, Amos & Andy, The Green Hornet, Jack Benny, Our Miss Brooks, and the Lone Ranger.

A beginning

by Arlene Surprenant

For me it's a time of mixed emotions. Only five years have passed. Such a short span of time and yet the changes in you are amazing.

From newborn infant with the prettiest brown eyes and crop of curly brown hair. How we struggled to survive those long nights with colic and hunger and all kinds of fears.

Your sisters took turns feeding you and rocking you in your own New England heirloom - a wooden cradle lovingly made and borrowed from a friend.

By far, our happiest memory took place one sweltering Sunday in July when you were baptized in the church and over 75 friends and relatives showed up to share in the day long celebration. How we gloried in showing you off in your long lace-trimmed gown and bonnet.

Those trying toddler years. Days passed as you tested yourself and our endurance. First crawling, then tentative steps gradually leading to that confident run which expanded your horizons.

How you loved to explore the woods, dance around the house, take sleigh rides in stacks of snow, tag after anyone who showed an interest in you. You only stopped momentarily when felled by a series of ear infections and high fevers.

You developed a love of books and puzzles, delighting to fit the odd-shaped piece in the overall scene. You sat enthralled in front of the TV, making Sesame Street a part of your world, laughing at the antics of Casper the Ghost and the smurfs, believing Mr. Rogers when he assured you he liked you just the way you are.

Nursery school was a positive experience and you joined in exuberant play. You discovered numbers of letters and colors and nature and limits. You learned how to make friends. You learned when to give in and how to stand up for yourself.

In one brief year you grew out of dependence and into a determined insistence on doing everything yourself.

Today's the big day. I stand with your hand tightly gripping mine, waiting. Trepidation, a sense of pride and a touch of fear, a wavering smile spreads as I fight back the tears.

A yellow shape looms in the distance and I squeeze your hand as your sense of adventure rises to the fore. No fear now. Only anticipation and excitement as you climb the bus which will carry you to your first kindergarten class.

I wave. You do too. For both of us, the big day is just beginning.

Special Needs Advisory Council announces schedule

The Wilmington Special Needs Advisory Council (SNAC) is a parent organization that meets monthly during the school year. Its purpose is to look after the interests of the handicapped (special needs) children of Wilmington as well as provide information and support services for the parents of these children.

SNAC holds two fund raising events each year, a fall dance and a pancake breakfast in March, which has allowed the group to provide the following during the past years:

Scholarships for special needs students, a parent support group for the SNAC parents, funding for equipment and transportation for the recreation department summer program for special needs children at Camp 40 Acres, funding for special needs classes, field trips and equipment needs not budgeted for in the school budget, partial funding for an audio trainer for a hearing impaired student in the Wilmington school system, funding for the camping coalition which provides camping services for various types of handicapped children, funding for a sign language interpreter for a hearing impaired child at the tiny tot camp, and donations for other charitable causes.

The Wilmington SNAC meets regularly with the Wilmington public school special education director and with various members of the Wilmington School Committee and the Shawsheen Tech School Committee. The Wilmington SNAC also works closely with the Wilmington Recreation Department on programs for the special needs children of Wilmington.

The SNAC meetings are held on the first Monday of every month, September through June at 7:30 p.m. in the 4th of July Building opposite Wilmington common on Middlesex Avenue and are open to anyone interested in the programs.

Schedule

Tues., Sept. 10, 7:30 p.m., 4th of July Building; Mon., Oct. 7, 7:30 p.m.,; November, to be announced; Mon., Dec. 2, 7:30 p.m.; Mon., Jan. 6, 7:30 p.m.; Mon., Feb. 3, 7:30 p.m.; Mon., March 3, 7:30 p.m.; Mon., April 7, 7:30 p.m.; Mon., May 5, 7:30 p.m.; Mon., June 2, to be announced.

Adult education courses at Shawsheen Tech

Close to 50 evening adult education courses will be offered this year at Shawsheen Tech.

Programs range from electronic and computer programming to jazzaerobics and photography.

A home maintenance program will cover basic remodeling and repair. This course is truly a must for the new home owner.

An introduction to home computers will investigate the reasons for buying such a device. The course will also give instruction of the basic operations.

Shawsheen Tech's adult education programs will be offered in 30 and 60 hour segments. Registration will be held in the schools cafeteria at 100 Cook st., Billerica September 16 through 19 from 7 to 9 p.m. Payment will be accepted via Master Charge, Visa, cash or personal check. Average cost per course will be $1.30 per hour.

Programs will include:

Automotive, welding, home computer, word processing, tech. ill., typesetting, data processing, masonry, plumbing, G.E.D. prep, small engines, machine shop, typing, accounting, photography, graphic camera, cooking/baking, woodworking, diesel, carpentry theory, autobody, electronics, shorthand, drafting, printing, health, air conditioning/ refrigeration, electrical, home owner maintenance, and jazzaerobics.

Spotlighters to hold children's workshops

The Silver Lake Spotlighters will offer a 10-week Young People's Theatre Workshop in Woburn beginning in October.

The program, open to boys and girls in grades three through eight of Woburn, Wilmington and surrounding communities, will cover all aspects of theatre in a learn-by-doing format. The workshop will culminate in a full production by the students of the musical "Scrooge" in December.

In classes taught by professional educators and theatrical artists, youngsters will be introduced to a variety of theatre experiences (vocal techniques, dance, acting concepts, costume and makeup design, publicity, properties, set design and construction). Every student will be involved, both on-stage and backstage, in the musical play which will complete the workshop with performances on Saturday and Sunday, December 14 and 15.

Registration for the workshop will take place on Sat., Sept. 14 from 10 a.m. to noon at the Joyce Junior High School, Locust Street, Woburn (where the workshop sessions will be held beginning Sat., Oct. 5 from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. for 10 consecutive Saturdays).

Students who wish to enroll in the Young People's Theatre Workshop must attend the registration on the 14th, accompanied by a parent or adult guardian. A non-refundable $75 fee for the workshop is payable at that time.

For further information about the Workshop, contact Sheila Murphy at 935-8073.

Marjorie Keefe engaged

Marjorie Keefe, daughter of Mrs. Ambrose Lovejoy of Linda Road, Wilmington and Paul Keefe of Malden and John Malone, son of Mrs. Albert Gagne of Skelton Road, Burlington and James Malone of Hawaii have announced their engagement.

Miss Keefe and Mr. Malone are both employed at the Burlington Marriot Hotel. She is a 1978 graduate of Wilmington High School and graduated from the University of Lowell in 1982.

Mr. Malone is a graduate of Northeast Regional High School in Wakefield and of the Culinary Institute of American in New York.

A June 1986 wedding is being planned.

Fall schedule at Tewksbury United Methodist Church

The Tewksbury United Methodist Church, at the corner of Main and South Streets, will begin its fall schedule Sunday, Sept. 8 with Sunday School for all ages beginning at 9 a.m. This includes a new adult class which will begin with a four-week study of "The Will of God" led by the Rev. Dr. Stephen Melius.

The worship service will be at 10 a.m. with Dr. Melius preaching on "Failure Can Be a Good Experience." Nursery care will be available during Sunday School and the worship service. All are welcome.

Campbells visiting

Captain and Mrs. John Campbell, from Fort Campbell, Kentucky, are home for the month of September, visiting their families and friends with their daughter Katelin.

Mrs. Campbell, the former Patricia Hadfield, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Hadfield of Strout Avenue, Wilmington. Tish teaches reading and language to the enlisted men at Ft. Campbell.

John is a helicopter pilot for the Army's Air Defense, and he has just received a Master's degree in managerial science.

John's parents are Mr. and Mrs. James V. Campbell, of Birchwood Road, Wilmington.

John and Tish are both graduates of Wilmington High School, Class of 1977.

James Shine named to state DAV position

James M. Shine of Grove Avenue, Wilmington has been named aide to the commander by Michael F. Riley of Watertown, recently elected as state commander of the Massachusetts Department Disabled American Veterans. Others appointed to this staff for the 1985-86 membership year include - Vernon Cardosi of Saugus as the national 4th junior vice commander, the Rev. Carl E. Bergstrom of Framinghan as national chaplain, Stanley Greeley of South Boston as the National executive Committeeman and Frank Shumski of Norwood as the alternate national executive committeeman.

Relaxation training at health center

Are you too busy to take care of yourself? Do you feel tired or have no energy? Do you have high blood pressure or is stress your problem?

Relaxation training can make a positive difference in one's life. It is the best way to manage stress and is a proven non-medical approach to treating high blood pressure. Relaxation techniques help in weight reduction, stopping smoking and becoming more assertive.

A variety of relaxation techniques will be taught in a fun, practical and informational workshop at the Regional Health Center in Wilmington on Mondays, Sept. 16 through Oct. 21 from 7 to 9 p.m.

Techniques taught by the instructor, Mary McDermott, M. Ed., will include progressive muscle relaxation, guided imagery, visualization, breathing exercises, relaxation, response and autogenics. A relaxation training cassette tape and handouts will be included in the course.

Participation is limited to 12 persons per group. Pre-registration is required by calling 657-3910, ext. 567.

Scholarship for Margie Campbell

Margie Campbell of Wilmington, has been awarded a full Veterans' Administration Health Scholarship for the next two years, as she enters her junior year at the Boston College School of Nursing.

Upon graduating from B.C., Margie will serve two years as a nurse in a Veterans' Administration Hospital.

Margie, a 1983 graduate of Wilmington High School, ranks second in her class at the B.C. School of Nursing.

Margie is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Campbell of Birchwood Road, Wilmington.

Multiple sclerosis family support group

A support group for spouses and other family members of people afflicted with multiple sclerosis is being organized by the Wilmington Family Counseling Service, Inc.

People providing care and emotional support for a loved one with a debilitating, progressive illness often find themselves struggling to care for the patient, maintain an on-going family life, and feel as though they have something left for themsvles. They are often conflicted about providing for the needs of the MS victim and the need sof other family members and themselves.

Talking with other people with similar circumstances with the help of a therapist to suggest alternative coping strategies can help to alleviate these conflicting feelings and facilitate new coping strategies.

The group will meet for three weekly sessions initially and then meet once a month or as frequently as the group feels is helpful. The first session will begin Thursday, Sept. 26, at 7:30 p.m. Prior registration is necessary. Teh group will be led by Robert Hartl, PhD., a licensed psychologist and staff member of the Wilmington Family Counseling Service who himself has a cousin with MS.

People who are interested in the group should contact Dr. Carol Golub at the Wilmington Family Counseling Service, Inc. at 658-9889 for more information and to specify times when they would be available to attend.

The Wilmington Family Counseling Service, Inc. is a non-profit agency funded by the Town of Wilmington to provide individual, family, marital and group psychotherapy. The agency has moved recently to Suite 103, Presidential Park, 314 Main St., Wilmington.

Tewksbury Masons to hold barbecue

A chicken barbecue will be held Sunday, Sept. 8 at the Wamesit Masonic Apartments, 70 Victor Dr., Tewksbury. A snack bar will also be open for those members of the family who prefer hamburgers and hot dogs to chicken.

The barbecue will be served continuously from noon to 4 p.m. The menu will consist of half a chicken, potato salad, tossed salad, corn on the cob, rolls and beverage. Tickets are $5.00 adults and $2.50 for children under 12.

The public is cordially invited. For information call 851-7107 or 658-8306.

Duffy house to be dismantled, moved

Duffy house

Workers dismantling the Duffy house stick their heads out the window for a picture. Kenneth Edge, John Prescott and Peter Fielding are working for Steve Mack, who has dismantled about 30 such homes.

The Charles Duffy House on Aldrich Road, Wilmington will be a sight well worth seeing about Friday or Saturday of this week.

Built probably in 1812, it is a Federal period home with no signs of being what is called a Federal Home. It is better to be described as a central hallway house, a type of home which came later.

The Charles Duffy House is being torn down, not to destroy it, but to preserve it. All the timbers, doors, windows, wainscotting, etc. from the home have been numbered, by architectural consultants, and the numbered parts are to be taken to Rhode Island, where they will be re-erected into a home which will be the original home, minus such things as the old plaster lathes and the plaster itself.

On Friday the old fashioned chestnut beams, put up when the house was constructed, should be bare, and it is hoped to start dismantling the beams at that time. It is understood that a tv crew from Channel 4 in Boston will be on hand to photograph the process.

On the 15th of May this paper wrote a story about what it then termed the Aldrich House, and how that house was to be torn down, to make way for a new residential development, to be called Tomahawk Drive. The Town Crier called it the Aldrich House because it was the home of that family from maybe 1870 to July 26, 1947, when the last person of that family, Sarah Grace, died.

Not much is known of the Aldrich family, even though the street (Aldrich Road) was obviously named for them. Three members were born in Upton, Mass., between 1825 and 1841. Charles, son of Arnold, who died in 1983 was born in Northbridge, and another member of the family was born in Bradford, Vermont. Lu Ella Aldrich, who married Harry Melvin Taylor of Woburn in 1901 was born in Hyde Park in 1880.

But the home had a more romantic beginning than the Town Crier believed some years ago.

About 1967 the Jaquith family had a convention in Woburn, and the publisher of the Town Crier was an invited guest. The Jaquiths were trying to produce a family geanology which would, of course, trace back to the Jaquith family of 1665, the family of Sergeant Abraham Jaquith, a veteran of King Phillip's War, who died in a few years of his wounds

Sergeant Jaquith lived about 300 feet westerly of what was being called the Duffy House, but there is no trace of his home. The Rev. Daniel Noyes of the Congregational Church, in 1880 described an existing cellar hole, westerly of Aldrich Road, and near Forest street, as the site of the home, but that hole has long since disappeared.

The first Abraham Jaquith, father of Sergeant Abraham, lived in Charlestown about 1643. He moved to Oburn, as he spelled it, about 1659. The story has recently been told in a book published by the New England Historic Genealogical Society, about the Jaquith and Walker families.

The first Abraham, a Hugenot, was a member of the Woburn church, and believed he was living in Woburn. But, after some years, it was determined that the Shawsheen Line, as it was termed, was easterly of his home, and he lived in Billerica. The Shawsheen Line was laid out in 1655, to delineate the boundary between the two towns, and was one mile easterly of the Shawsheen River.

Aldrich Road, today, is the approximate line of the Shawsheen Line as laid out in 1655.

The first Abraham died in 1676. It is to be surmised that he lived in the area of Aldrich Road and Froest Street for about 17 years, and that the farm had at least 100 acres, and probably more.

Wilmington was set aside as a town in 1730, and much of the Jaquith farm was thus found to be in Billerica. The third Abraham Jaquith, who, before his death in Wilmington about 1753 owned about 600 acres of land was the first of seven farmers in Billerica, easterly of the Shawsheen River, to petition to have the boundary with Wilmington changed. His farm became a part of Wilmington in 1731, and that change included the property that later became the Aldrich and the Charles Duffy homestead.

Other families in the area, at least two of whom were Hugenot, also petitioned for the change. The two Hugenot families, in addition to the Jaquiths, were named Corneille and Beard. By 1737 all the land easterly of the Shawsheen River was a part of Wilmington and that land being what is now the "thumb" of Wilmington.

And, by 1743 members of the Jaquith family were moving to other towns, and to other provinces too. There were many of the Jaquith family however, in Wilmington, Billerica and Tewksbury.

The first three generations of men were named Abraham, and in the fourth generation Benjamin Jaquith was living in the old farmhouse. He became the father of James and Nathan, men of the fifth generation.

Two daughters and one of those two men married three children of the family of Reuben was of that generation of the Buck family in Wilmington, descended from William Buck who settled in Wilmington in 1671 or thereabouts, he who died in the Cambridge lines, during the seige of Boston on Dec. 24, 1775.

Having three brothers and sisters of one family marry three of another family (one of them a cousin) produced some odd relationships in the next generation. It can be called, for want of a better name "double first cousins."

On April 28, 1803, Alice Jaquith, daughter of Nathan, became the bride of Reuben Buck, a brother of Esther.

On January 14, 1812, Sewell Buck, son of Reuben and Esther claimed Hannah, daughter of James Jaquith as his bride.

Thus the children of Nathan and Alice Jaquith and of Reuben and Esther Buck were to be classed as "double first cousins," and the children of Sewell and Hannah Buck were half way between first cousins and "double first cousins' with those of the other families.

The chances are that James Jaquith lived on what is now the east side of Forest Street, about 400 yards southerly of Aldrich Road. He sold or gave land to his son-in-law and the home of Sewell and Hannah Buck was built.

It was a handsome home. Every room had a fireplace, with tightly laid hard brick in those fireplaces. None of the fireplaces exhibit anything but old fashioned (for that day) masonry. There is nothing to suggest that the mason had ever heard of the fireplace improvements invented by Benjamin Thompson, Count Rumford of North Woburn.

The house is now the property of the Steven Mack Associates, of Ashaway, Rhode Island 02804. Mr. Mack is an architectural consultant, who studied art, in Sweden, and now has a combined hobby and business of saving threatened 18th century homes in New England.

He has been in this business for about nine years, and so far has taken down and reconstructed about 30 homes. To him it is a very exciting business, trying to preserve old homes.

Mack is struggling against a time deadline. The owner of the land wants it, come "hell or high water" by September 13. He is not certain that he has enough time to finish his job, but he acknowledges that the owner has been so far, "very heopful."

Bake oven

The large kitchen fireplace of the Duffy house showing the bake oven. It is build of old-fashioned hard-burned brick. At left is Kenneth Edge of Dorchester.

Old door

A fine old-fashioned door, showing old H&L hinges, is one feature of the Duffy house, which could also be called the Sewell Buck house. The young man is John Prescott of Boutwell Street.

letter to the editor

Dear Larz:

The article I submitted last week regarding Toughlove panel discussion at the monthly meeting of the Chemical People Task Force, 7:30 sharp at the Regional Health Center in Wilmington, created a number of inquiries about the program.

The most asked question was "Does my child have to be using drugs or alcohol for me to benefit from this program?"

No, definitely not...it is difficult to separate the typical adolescent behavior from drug-induced behavior (Parent Research Inst. University of Georgia). When you are parenting an adolescent you will have basic concerns such as child becoming more irritable, less affectionate, secretive, unpredictable, hostile, depressed, uncooperative, apathetic, withdrawn, sullen, easily provoked and seemingly oversensitive.

Adolescence is a very difficult time for young people, as well as their parents. The Toughlove parenting method is unique in its approaches but has been successful for thousands of parents going through these behavioral changes in their children.

Toughlove has found not getting involved, not learning how to cope with your teenager, is more a problem than the behavior itself, and that can lead to the youngster turning you off, as a parent, and turnin gonto drugs and alcohol.

We invite all parents to attend this very informative program. The Chemical People supports prevention as well as remedial programs. All meetings are open to the general public and we welcome your participation and input. Teenagers are also invited.

Anne Linehan, chairman
Wilmington Chemical People

Healing service at St. Dorothy's

A healing and restoration service will be conducted by the Rev. John Lazanski, O.F.M., of St. Anthony Shrine, Boston at St. Dorothy's Church, Main street, Wilmington, Friday, Sept. 13.

The Franciscan "healing priest" will celebrate mass at 7;30 p.m. and then conduct the healing and restoration service.

Father Lazanski is a charter member of the Association of Christian Therapists, a group of professinal healers from across the nation founded in 1975 which today has thousands of members. He has been a priest for 37 years and spent many years as a foreign missionary in Ceylon. He has a master of psychology degree from Boston University.

Over the years he has conducted public healing services mostly in the New England and mid-Atlantic states. Occasionally he is called to be the principal speaker with his testimony about healing at Full Gospel Business Men's Fellowship International dinners. The last three years he went along as a healer to southern India with World Harvest Evangelism on Miracle Life Crusades.

The number of public healing services both at St. Anthony Shrine, downtown Boston, and with his outreach ministry is well over 500, in both large and small assemblies. He has seen thousands of healings and has received endless testimonies of healings from cancer, to scoliosis to arthritis, blindness and deafness, rare childhood diseases, release from drug and nicotine addictions, and practically every form of physical and psychological infirmity and pathology.

The public is invited to attend the mass and the healing service at St. Dorothy's Church.

Health center offers stop-smoking program

The 20-day American Lung Association's self-help stop smoking plan will be offered at the Regional Health Center in Wilmington beginning Tues., Sept. 17.

This program is conducted in a supportive and small group environment from 7 to 8:30 p.m. led by Richard W. Silveria, community health educator. The course runs for six weeks and is scheduled to conclude Tuesday, Oct. 15. All participants receive a workbook and handbook on "A Life of Freedom From Smoking." Films will be shown and brochures and pamphlets on smoking will be available.

The success rate of the program depends upon one's personal commitment to quitting and assuming responsibility for one's own health. Homework is essential to success - minimal reading and written exercises are required during the 20-day period.

Mr. Silveria graduated with honors from the University of Lowell with a B.S. in health education. He is a trained stop smoking facilitator by the American Lung Association and the American Cancer Society.

Pre-registration is required by calling 657-3910, ext. 567.

25 years ago

The September 8, 1960 edition of the Town Crier of Wilmington noted that:

The Community Fund goal was set at $10,000.

The Town Hall was packed Thursday night for a board of appeals hearing for a business variance on land of Mr. Shea in North Wilmington. Attorney Paul Niles represented Shea. Neighbors were in agreement.

Walter Collins of Bay State Avenue, Tewksbury was scheduled to be installed as commander of Legion Post 136, Wilmington Saturday at the Glen Road School.

Other Post 136 officers would include John and Fred Brancone as vice commanders; Joseph Bradley as adjutant; James Fairweather, sergeant at arms; Frank Thibeau, chaplain, Arthur Harper, judge advocate and Arthur Johnsonn historian. Joseph McMahon was to be installed as finance officer for the 37th time in a row, a national record.

Auxiliary officers to be installed included President Viola Faulkner; Sr. Vice President, Jean Sullivan; Junior Vice President, Marie Dyas; Historian, Mary White; treasurer Marguerite Harper Secretary; Pauline Okolo; Chaplain, Louie DeFelice; Sergeant at Arms, Jeanne Bradley. Rose Zwicker, Laura Doucette, Ruth Boudreau, Betty Thibeau and Lee Hamilton were to serve on the executive board.

A second town dump, on Abigail's Island was closed on orders of the water department. The dump, intended exclusively for wood was being abused when cans and other unburnable trash was found dumped there. Jim White, highway superintendent was still finding trash dumped in front of the snow fence which was erected to protect Wilmington water.

Walter Buck, an employee of Elia's Market was pictured with part of his rock collection which was on display in the store.

Three thousand, two hundred and eight pupils attended Wilmington schools on opening day; 1269 of them at the high school.

The library was scheduled to be open Saturdays beginning Sept. 10 from 2 to 5 p.m. Other days, 1:30 to 5 and 7 to 9 p.m. and Friday mornings from 10 to noon.

The William F. Tattersall Post of the DAV burned the mortgage on its home on Grove Avenue, a former restaurant. The hall was pictured before and after many hours of volunteer work by veterans. "Hizhonner" George Spanos, honorary mayor of Wilmington officiated at the ceremony. This was the only mortage to that date ever issued by the VA to a veterans organization.

Arthur Allgrove, local nurseryman must have been doing something right for the past 25 years - he was advertising for help in the Town Crier 25 years ago.

Safety officer urges extra care

Children in Wilmington return to school this week and Police Safety Officer Shelley joins AAA Massachusetts in urging motorists to drive extra carefully.

"Many children in kindergarten and first grade will be coping with traffic on their own for the first time," said Officer Shelley. "They may not be aware of pedestrian safety rules."

Officer Shelley had some advice for concerned motorists. "Safe driving is a year-round responsibility, but it's evenmore important as schools open," he said. "Keep alert and always obey the posted speed limit, but especially in school zones. That will make it easier to come to a quick safe stop if a child darts into your path."

Arriving for school

Students arriving at Wilmington High School for the first day of school Tuesday found a new fence, installed to cordon off the construction area. A $6.5 million renovation project is underway, which will include a new gymnasium and a new cafeteria.

Cutone emerges as dominant force

Steven Cutone has emerged as the dominant force in Wilmington tennis this year. Just entering his freshman year at the high school, Steven should dominate the Merrimack Valley Conference in tennis for the next four years. He is number one on the men's singles ladder and has successfully met strong challenges by Bobby Williams and Rich Bova to keep his top position.

Steven is just getting better and better, while the rest of the club is just trying to maintain their current playing ability.

With some other youngsters like Bobby Seville, Sean Marsh and David Shanteler playing very good tennis, the high school team has a promising future.

The old timers did get a chance to play some tennis this summer without the kids. The first annual over 30's singles tournament was won by Barry Cahill in the men's division and by Diana Holmes in the women's division.

In the finals, Barry won a close two set match over Paul Greco, while Diana had a little easier time, beating Nancy Newhouse, also in two sets.

With a week left to play on the ladders, people are feverishly making challenges trying to make it into one of the top "money" positions.

Sleds set Workmen prepare the sleds for the Wilmington High School football linemen who will begin practicing closer to home upon their return from camp this week.

Skating Club offers learning program

Once again the Wilmington Figure Skating Club will offer its Learn to Skate Program at the Janas Rink in Lowell beginning Friday, September 6, from 6 to 7 p.m.

The program is designed to teach children of all ages the basic skills of figure skating. A highly qualified professional staff will teach your youngster the necessary skills at each badge level.

There are 12 levels in the program, and upon completion of the requirements in each level your child will receive a colorful badge with the level they have completed embroidered on it.

For information regarding the program, contact Susan Barker at 658-4681, Susan Farkas at 658-2412 and Atsuko Fukuda at 851-3856.

The club will also have patch/freestyle ice on Saturdays from noon to 2 p.m. Skaters are welcome to skate on the freestyle session which begins at 12:55 p.m. at an additional cost.

This ice time will enable badge program participants the opportunity to practice their skills and allow them to progress in the badge program at a quicker pace.

If anyone needs ice skates, please contact Atsuko Fukuda at 851-3856 for sizes. The club looks forward to the return of many skaters and welcomes all new participants.

Members of the Wilmington Figure Skating Club have been busy during the summer months, competing in various competitions.

Two of the club's members entered in the New EnglandInter-Club competition held in Springfield hosted by the Little Sun Valley Figure Skating Club in July.

Kelly Martin of North Andover won the pre-preliminary girls event, capturing a gold medal and Tewksbury's Mari Fukuda placed first the Juvenile Girls Division, also bringing home a gold medal.

The site of the 1980 Olympics, Lake Placid, N.Y. held their three day annual freeskating championships. At least 40 skaters from many states, including Canada competed in their respective categories.

Butt set for Club champions

Ray Butt of Linda Road, Wilmington will participate in the 1985 Boston Globe Tournament of Club Champions to be held Monday, September 9 at the Pine Brook Country Club in Weston.

Butt earned a berth in the tournament as a result of winning the club championship at the Trull Brook Golf Course.

The Globe Tournament of Club Champions is an annual event open to the champions of the member clubs of the Massachusetts Golf Association.

The Tournament of Club Champions is now in its 33rd year. Directed by Ernie Roberts, a former Globe sports editor, it is an 18-hole stroke play event, with the winner receiving the Joseph Looney Trophy, named in honor of the former Boston sportswriter who founded the event in 1953.

Bike-a-Thon

Several hundred cyclists are expected to ride in the 20 mile Bon Bike-a-Thon beginning at 9 a.m. Sunday, October 6 (rain date, October 13).

Bicyclists of all ages will collect pledges prior to the event for each mile completed.

Riders will then leisurely cover a scenic 20 mile course through Andover, Lawrence, Methuen and North Andover, while raising funds to improve Bon Secours Hospital's cancer management program.

All proceeds will be used for the hospital's community education and support program for cancer patients and their families to purchase equipment for direct oncology patient care; and to provide up-to-date information on cancer care for the medical staff. Prizes will be awarded to the riders raising the most money through pledges.

A nominal entry donation fee for the event is required. All riders participating will receive a special "Bon Bik-a-Thon" sun visor. Registration and pledge forms are available by calling the Bon Secours Hospital Development Office at 617-687-0151, ext. 2104. September 30 is the deadline for registration.

Time to react The time for reacting and not thinking has begun for the Tewksbury Youth Football youngsters, who will be putting the routine of practice into game action this month.

WHS scrimmage

The1985 Wilmington High School football squad will conclude its initial week of practice at Camp Wakuta with a scrimmage on Saturday morning, Sept. 7 at Kennett High in Conway, N.H.

Kickoff for the scrimmage is listed for 9:30 a.m. Kennett High is located on Route 16 in Conway.

Directions to Camp Wakuta - Take Route 93N to 495N to 125N (Plaistow). Stay on Route 125 for 38 miles; then take Spaulding Turnpike-Rochester bypass.

This is Route 16 - follow approximately for 43 miles to Ossipee.

Where the highway divides bear right. The sign should indicate Freedom, Me. - Rte. 25.

Follow route 125 for five and a half mile then take a left onto Rte. 153N for one mile.

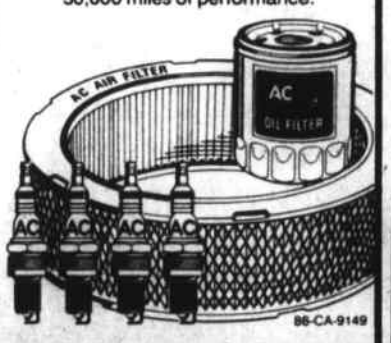

Take a left at the tree with 20 or 30 name plates on it. Continue on this road for two and a half miles. You will pass Bay AView Marina on your left. Go down a small hill and take the dirt road on your right. Follow this driveway in 100 yards and bear right at the fork. If you should come to Shawtown Country Store, you've gone too far.

Sons of Italy score

Mike Moran slides home with a Sons of Italy run as North Wilmington Shell pitcher Bernie Wagstaff covers the plate after a passed ball in Wilmington Softball League championship series action last week.

Shell comeback clinches

North Wilmington Shell overcame a 2-1 deficit in games to recover and win the Wilmington Softball League championship over the Sons of Italy in action last week.

The comebacking Shell gang rang up a pair of 11-10 victories last week to clinch the championship.

Thursday night (August 29) Jim Bossi slashed a double and a triple and drove home three runs, including the winning run in the bottom of the sixth inning.

Joe Simmons ripped two doubles for the champs and scored that game winning run.

Kevin Smith (three hits) and Ray Noel (two doubles) also contributed to the winning cause.

Losing pitcher Bob Danehey, who turned in an outstanding performance in defeat, smacked two hits and drove in three runs for the Sons of Italy.

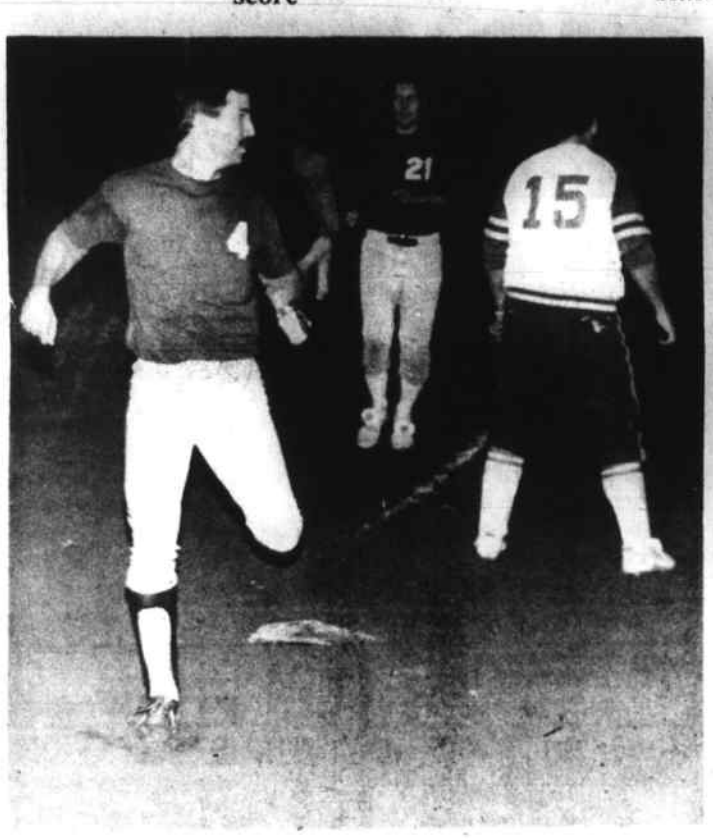

Aldo Caira was next in line with two hits and two runs batted in before he ended the game with a long flyball with Sons of Italy baserunners perched on second and third.

Tom Southmayd was the winning pitcher for North Wilmington Shell.

Tuesday night (August 27) Bernie Wagstaff escaped with the 11-10 victory over Danehey with help from teammates Jim Busby (three hits), Joe Simmons (single, homer, three RBI's) and Kevin Smith with a single and a triple.

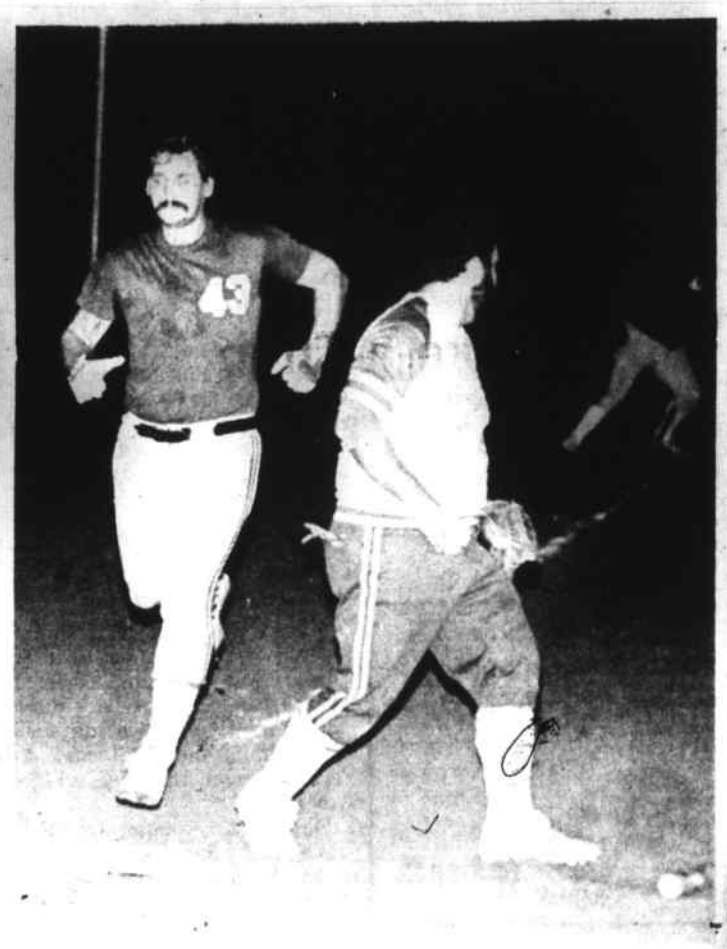

Rick McQueston (three hits), Jon Nolan (three hits) and Mike Moran (single, homer) keyed the Sons of Italy attack.

The Sons of Italy enjoyed an outstanding path to the championship series before bowing out, defeating Farmer and the Del (2-1) and D and D Gulf (2-1).

Another run

Larry Noel cruises home with one of his club's 11 runs in the Wilmington Softball League championship clincher.

Cruise home

Jim Busby scores one of his team's 11 runs that clinched the Wilmington Softball League championship for North Wilmington Shell last week.

The Shell squad overcame a 2-1 Sons of Italy advantage in games to win the title. Awaiting the late throw is Sons of Italy catcher Tiger Caira.

Joe Barry unseats Stelio's

Joe Barry Oil unseated defending Wilmington Over 35 Division champ Stelio's with a 12-6 victory in the title game played last Tuesday night.

The champions broke a 6-6 deadlock with six runs in the top of the seventh inning.

Willie Whalen and Jack Smith banged out three hits apiece, while Terry McKenna lashed a single and a triple in support of winning pitcher Frank Stone.

Rusty Heubner led Stelio'with two doubles, followed by Steve Cail (single, double) and Kevin Field (two hits). John O'Melia was the losing pitcher.

Paul Bova came up with the defensive play of the game with a diving catch in centerfield.

Cushing Tourney this week

The sixth annual Larry Cushing Memorial Tournament of Champions is scheduled for this week at Tom Aprile Field.

The tourney field will begin play Friday night with games under the lights at 7 p.m. and 8:30.

Eligible teams are division champions or playoff champs from Class B or Merrimack Valley leagues.

I kept gaining and losing the same 20 pounds. Then I said, this time it's going to be different.

I tried every pill, every gimmick to lose weight. Only to feel miserable when I gained it all back. Finally I said no, never again—this time I'm going to Diet Center. I lost the weight, without hunger. And I'm keeping it off.

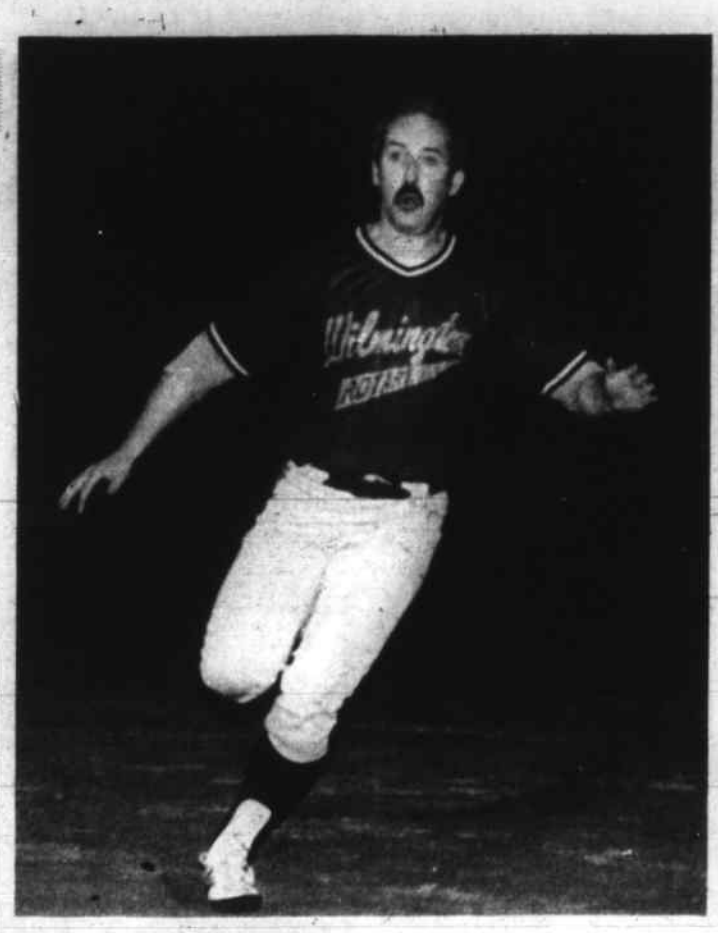

My only regret? Not going sooner!

Soccer start up

These two willing and able Wilmington High School soccer candidates were put through their paces by junior varsity coach Steve Winston Tuesday afternoon. The Wildcat varsity and junior varsity squads open their Merrimack Valley Conference season next Wednesday.

Busy summer for WHS girls

This summer 20 Wilmington High School girls competed in the Northern Essex Women's Summer Basketball League. Wilmington was one of two area towns which entered two teams in the 16 team league. The girls played a total of 10 regular season games, as well as qualifying for the opening round of the playoffs. The league consisted of teams from the Cape Ann League, the Merrimack Valley Conference, and several New Hampshire squads. Wilmington played against top MVC teams such as Methuen, Lawrence and Andover gaining experience and meeting tough competition which should greatly aid them in the upcoming school season.

The Wilmington green team was led by junior Karen Andersen, seniors Danielle Vinal, Kerry Sheehan, Kellie Kavanaugh, Jeanne Neville, and Carolyan Tuxbury combined with outstanding efforts from sophomores Jennifer Ryan, Jennifer Campbell, Amy Caruso and Beth Sheehan.

The blue team was mainstayed by this past season's junior varsity team members Judy Baptiste, Amy Hamilton, Laurie Rowe and Catny Nistico; as well as freshman standouts Cindy Eliott and Lauren Scalesse. The blue team also included incoming freshmen, sure to be future stars, Christine Bonariggo and Danielle Fay. Roundingout theroster were eighth graders Kris Cavanaugh and Ann Marie Andersen who still have a year to wait before they can showcase their basketball talents.

Overall, the girls enjoyed a fun and rewarding summe season and had the good fortune to be supported by the most encouraging and enthusiastic fans throughout the entire season.

In addition to playing in the Northern Essex League, 11 Wilmington girls basketball players improved their skills by attending a week long basketball camp at the Universi:y of Lowell. The cam was directed by reputable ULowell men s head coach Don Doucette with assistance from successful Central Catholic coach Janet O'Reilly. The girls received individual and team instruction as well as group lectures from area college and high school coaches.

Six Wilmington girls received awards for their individual achievements at the weekend awards ceremony. Amy Caruso was selected by the staff as the most outstanding player at the camp. Lauarie Rowe received a well deserved most improved player award. Nancy Fillio, Christine Bonariggo, and Cathy Nistico were all elected to the all camp All-Star team. Kris Cavanaugh defeated four opponents to capture the championship title in the girls' 15 In addition to these awards, Laurie Rowe, Nancy Fillio and Cathy Nistico were also named player of the day during the week.

Other girls attending the camp were Jeanne Neville, Danielle Vinal, Amy Hamilton, Jennifer Ryan and Beth Sheehan.

Hopefully Wilmington can start a tradition of attending the Chiefs Camp in an effort to build a strong and reputable basketball programin the years to come. The 1985-86 squad will definitely benefit from the efforts of these dedicated 11 girls.

Summer's best

Youth baseball signup

Tewksbury Youth Baseball will hold its 1986 registration at the town hall Wednesdays September 4 and 11 from 7 to 9 p.m. and Saturday, September 7 from 10 a.m. until noon.

All boys and girls born between August 1, 1970 and July 31, 1978 are invited to register. All intermediate and minor leaguers, except those who played as eight-year-olds last year, must register and tryout to be eligible to play in 1986.

Tryout schedules will be given at registration. Players must be accompanied by a parent or guardian and must present a birth certificate. Once again there will be no registration fee.

won the Pre-Juvenile Ladies event, capturing a gold medal. Allison Newton of Andover competed in Juvenile Ladies skating beautifully and placed high in her category.

Mari Fukuda, also competed in Juvenile Ladies, placing second and earning a silver medal, while Kelly Martin, skating in Preliminary Girls, won her event, bringing home a gold medal. Congratulations to these girls for their hard work and great skating.

Charity Golf Tourney October 7

The second annual St. John's Hospital Men's Guild Charity Golf Tournament to be held Monday, October 7 at the New Indian Ridge Country Club will honor Lowell businessman John A. Notini, president of Albert H. Notini and Sons, Inc. The announcement was made by James F. O'Donnell Jr., president of the 1300-member organization who sponsored a similar event last year honoring D. Harold Sullivan, treasurer of Demoulas Marketbasket Supermarkets.

"Last year's charity tournament was a huge success thanks to a dedicated committee. It resulted in the St. John's Hospital Men's Guild making a two-year commitment to purchase a YAG for eye surgery. This $52,000 state-of-the-art piece of equipment will be used to do post-cataract surgery and other routine opthalmological procedures," O'Donnell said.

Serving as members of the John A. Notini 1985 Charity Golf Tournament Committee are David P. Lane, Jr. and Michael J. Zammitti, co-chairmen, George Behrakis, Dr. William Callahan, Gil Campbell, Telly Demos, Al DeVincenzi, Ken Ferron, Jack Glazebrook, Harold Hines, William Koumantzelis, David Lane III, Harry Lee, Charles Malmas, Larry Martin, Robert McCarthy, Richard Notini, Albert Notini, Jim O'Donnell Jr., Robert Saratora, Theodore Settanny, Paul Shaughnessy and William Vrettas.

Noted Lowell golfer Larry Martin topped a field of 144 golfers to win the 36-hole tournament in 1984.

Minutemen Scout camp is 'Fun, fun, more fun'

By JIM ROUILLARD

We learned of unknown sharp-toothed creatures that live in dead logs; of tornadoes and Hurricane Rob, and that the view from the director's porch, under a leaden sky, provides uneasy recall of Camp Crystal Lake and the horror movie "Friday the 13th."

The scene was the Boy Scouts of America (BSA), Minuteman Council's Parker Mountain Reservation in Center Strafford, N.H.

We'd arrived during the summer's busiest week.

On the waterfront, it was a scene of controlled chaos: heaps of tee-shrts, towels and scuffed sneakers lined the shore. The waters of Big Willey Pond, favored spot for many scouts, crawled with watercraft and swimmers, as boys from North Reading, Stoneham, Winchester and Woburn squeezed in as much water play and instruction as possible before lunch.

The navy consists of sunfish, kayaks, rowboats and canoes — and a retired battleship flag big enough to swamp the entire fleet.

National emblems of staff and visitors this season included the Republic of Ireland's harp, the lion of England, the dragon of Wales and Austria's eagle.

There was a fort constructed of bread crates — and the kitchen crew flirted briefly with the notion of adding frogs' legs to the barbecue bill of fare — but the frog was living and the staff took pity, so the menu was more prosaic: franks, potato salad and bug juice for 300.

For most youngsters, summer passes like the wings of the moth and the quick soundless feet of silverfish, but for the scouts and staff at Parker Mountain, it seemed to pass even more swiftly this year, despite insect bite and the call of reveille at the unearthly hour of 7 a.m.

The North Reading contingent liked it so well among the trees, hills and ponds, in fact, that they elected to stay for an extra week.

The North Reading scouts loved it, they said, despite being furthest from the messhall, at Davey Crockett campsite. They liked it there because it backed up to an old 19th-century graveyard — and provided woodland peeks at lots of animals.

Last year, in fact, 15-year-old Ricky Paiva said, "I got bitten by a small animal. We were out collecting firewood, and I picked up a dead log. The animal was inside — it nipped me and disappeared out the back door." Paiva added that he couldn't really blame the animal, since he had disturbed its home, and "it moved so fast I didn't see it."

But prompt attention at the infirmary assured no infection, Paiva said, and he's learned to be wary of dead logs of the hollow variety.

The distance of Davey Crockett Campsite from the mess hall was seen as an advantage, to at least one of the North Reading scouts. Tim Mustone, 14, whose family migrated a few years ago from the large, well-known Mustone clan of Stoneham, said "The thing is, you walk the distance from Davey Crockett to the dining hall, eat a ton of food, and then work it off walking back to the campsite."

The food at Parker Mountain is, in a word "awesome," with veal parmigiana, among the North Reading troop at least, far and away the favorite dish.

"The desserts are very popular too," Mustone somberly added, "We really love those puddings."

The staff will even cater to food allergies. North Reading's Tom Laudate, 12, for example, is allergic to wheat and oatmeal, so he got cheese every day.

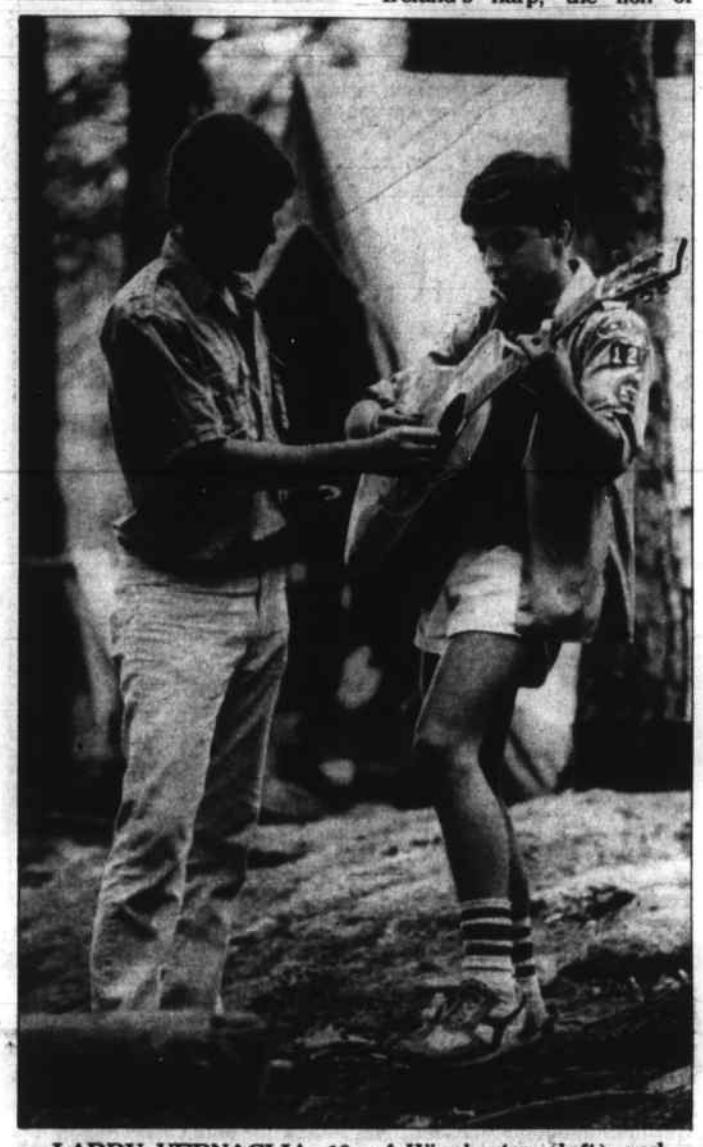

"Do you like cheese?" Laudate was asked.

"Yes," he replied, "but I'm getting a little sick of it."

The trio of North Reading scouts being interviewed soon sent out amoeba-like pseudopods, in the form of shouts, sung out to others, "Hey, HE'S from North Reading, HEY JEFF! HEY JOHN!," and seemed likely to become an augmented double octet, offering opinions, ideas, questions, and plain, unvarnished enthusiasms too numerous to list.

We were quickly joined by Randy Helgeson, 12, Nathan Johnson and Jeff Lenk, both 12, Randy Paiva, 13 (pay due deference to him; he holds an

The Metro Police school in Stoneham

Men, horses hone their skills

By DOUG BOYLE

STONEHAM — Surrounded by the Stone Zoo in Stoneham is a school that has attracted national attention because of the training techniques that have been developed there.

The average age of the graduates is between six and 10 years old, but after they have completed the six- to eight-week course, these "students" will be ready for just about any situation that they might encounter.

The school is the training facility for the Metro Police's Mounted Patrol, and the horses are not the only "students" that receive training on the grounds.

Each of the police officers that make up the nine-man patrol out of the Middlesex Fells Division of the Metro Police must also pass a 30-day course before they are allowed to join the patrol.

Trainer-Coordinator Frank Smith, who is responsible not only for this unit but also for the Blue Hills eight-horse, six-man unit, explained the necessity for the training, saying, "The liability is on the officer for anything that happens once they leave the barn."

The point is that anything could happen once they leave the barn to go to an assignment. That could be a parade celebrating a festive occasion; or it may just as well be helping to break up a race riot, as the mounted units were called to do during the start of the forced bussing of Boston school children in the early 1970s.

To be ready for this, Smith and his people had to develop some training techniques that are not usually found in your everyday equestrian academies.

Smith explains that "horses are alert to everything." He said that the horses see everything three times the normal size, and with these thoughts in mind, the patrol developed a series of obstacles along a course that would train the horses for anything that they may come across in the woods or city streets.

Smith described the course that was developed as a confidence-builder, "a game of noises, color and sounds."

Included in this collage of training instruments are such things as: strips of cloth hanging from ropes at a height designed to brush across a horse's face, simulating tree branches; or brightly colored objects placed at the height of curb stones; or a

Wilmington police news

During the weekof August 27 to September 3 the police station was positively jumping with alarms. A total of 37 false alarms were run gin, all of which had to be investigated. The presumption is that there were people enjoying the holiday spirit.

The 38th alarm paid off. It cam ein just before midnight, on Tuesday morning, from the Carpet World on Jewell Drive. Inspector Jepson and Officer Waterhouse checked in, with another car being present for backup. Two youths had disappeared and were somewhere in the woods.

On arrangement the two cruisers took off, as if nothing was to be found, but Officer Waterhouse remained, out of sight. The two youths returned, and got into the car and drove off. They were captured within minutes, at the gas station on Main Street near Eames Street, by Jepson and Officer Frank Hancock.

Paul Siciliano, 19, of 4 Dexter St., and Sean Neill, 20, of Kilby Street, were charged with breaking and entering in the nighttime, with intent to commit a felony. They were arraigned in Woburn Court Tuesday morning, and the cases were continued to September 18.

On August 27 Officer Duffy arrested Joseph Silva of Tyngsboro, on a Cambridge Superior Court warrant for non support. He was taken to the Woburn Court for arraignment.

James MacMillan of 4 River St. was arrested the same evening on a State Police traffic warrant, by Officerr Waterhouse.

Edward J. Bernard, 18, of Forest Street was arrested Thursday morning by Officers Peterson and Shepard, after they had investigated a gasoaline theft. Bernard was charged with larceny under $100.

A local woman was arrested by Officer Chris Neville Saturday evening on drug charges. Neville had been checking out a suspicious auto near the Woburn line. Fay Boudreau, 34, of Border Avenue was charged with possession of a Class D substance, and possession of a Class B substance, with intent to distribute. She was held in the lockup for the weekend, and Tuesday morning, in Woburn Court she was ordered to 20 days observation by Judge Louis Gonella.

Officer Jon Sheppard, early Monday morning arrested a Waltham youth on liquor charges. Craig MacMillan of Winter Street, Waltham was charged with underage possession of alcoholic beverages. He entered a plea of guilty in Woburn Court on Tuesday and paid $75 court costs.

There were nine arrests, nine accidents, and nine disturbances during the past week. Four cases of larceny were reported, five cases of giving medical assistance were recorded, four reports were received of stolen vehicles and one stolen vehicle was recovered.

Suspicious activity reports numbered six and vandalism reports numbered seven, with trailbike complaints being 10. There were three reports of breaking and entering, and two reports of domestic problems.

Among the larceny reports was one of four wheels and tires being stolen.

Counseling

admits Dr. Golub, but she adds that they are definitely available if anyone takes the time to reach out for help.

Besides providing counseling services, WFCS also offers group workshops dealing with various life crises and courses available through the Wilmington Community Schools. Last year, for instance, a course on blended families was offered. This year, the focus will be on loss and finding an identify as a single person, as a result of separation or divorce.

Starting September 26, WFCS will offer an ongoing support group for children and spouses of those persons with Multiple Sclerosis. The group anticipates meeting on a monthly basis.

One ongoing problem for the agency has been funding. Initially, WFCS was provided with a $3,000 yearly budget from the Wilmington Community Fund. Then the town began subsidizing their budget. Since the days of Prop 2 1/2, however, they took a budget cut and, according to Dr. Golub, "we have been struggling ever since." As the agency continues to grow, she adds, they may need to look into some kind of alternate funding.

In its attempt to become more visible to the public, the agency will host an open house October 4 and 5 to show off its new home. The two day event will be co-sponsored by the Wilmington Womens Club and the Wilmington Council for the Arts and will feature an art show by local artists.

"We're very excited," says Dr. Golub of the open house plans. Indeed, the continual attempts being made to meet the needs of Wilmington residents and a brand new home, Dr. Golub and her entire staff have a lot to be excited about in the years ahead.

Wilmington senior topics

Podiatrist Sept. 20

Podiatrist Dr. Leavitt will be at the Wilmington Senior Center Friday, Sept. 20 starting at 9 a.m. The doctor will remain at the center until he has seen all the seniors waiting with appointments. It is necessary to get a number at the desk when arriving.

Wheelchair needed

The Center is in need of a wheelchair for a senior. Anyone who has one, or knows of someone who has one they are not using is asked to contact the Center.

Activities to resume

Activity programs will resume this month. The dance classes will be starting September 13 on Friday afternoons beginning at 1:30 p.m. The exercise program should be starting September 9. A physical therapist will lead the class which are held Mondays and Wednesdays from 10 to 11 a.m. All of the exercise programs are implemented by the Council on Aging to keep seniors healthy.

Beware if swindlers

Many senior citizens throughout the country are constantly being swindled out of money by unscrupulous individuals. Many are selling ways to make more money by investing their life savings. Other unscrupulous insurance salesmen sell useless insurance policies to the elderly. Within the past few months, several local seniors have been victims of this type of con scheme. It is very important to have a relative or an attorney present when signing any papers. Make certain that you understand everything in any contract you sign.

Director of housing

Lillian Buckley, director of housing at Deming Way is interested in knowing of any senior who will be seeking an apartment in the elderly housing when it is completed. Those interested should call Lillian at 658-8531.

Bus trip September 26

The Council on Aging therapeutic social, a bus trip and dinner at Hector's Country Kitchen in Rye, N.H. will be held September 26. Buses will leave the Senior Center at 10:30 a.m. and return to Wilmington around 4:00 p.m. When signing up it will be necessary to pay a $3.00 non-refundable deposit to help defray the cost of the social.

Those signing up will be requested to specify what meat or fish meal they will want. Signups will be closed out early due to the number of means offered. Hector's would like the count of dinners at least two weeks in advance.

Choate-Symmes begins breast exams

New studies by the American Cancer Society (ACS) and the National Cancer Institute indicate that one-third of all breast cancers are found in women 35-49 and that most of these cancers are tiny and easily treatable but not always detectable by physical examination alone.

Based on these findings, the ACS has revised its recommendations of mammography (breast x-ray, also known as xeromammography and xeroradiography) and urges all women 40 to 50 to have a mammogram annually or biannually, and annual beginning at age 50. The ACS also recommends a baseline mamogram for all women 35-40 for reference, so that their physician can note any changes in breast tissue that may appear in later x-rays.

In support of these recommendations, Choate-Symmes Hospitals, Inc., has established a Breast Diagnostic Service to make it easier for women to obtain mammograms.

Vincent Sites, M.D., associate radiologist at the Symmes Hospital Division, is credited with initiating the new program. Dr. Sites, who will serve as the imaging director, emphasizes the importance of mammography as an effective screening technique.

"Mammography is a safe, painless, and non-invasive technique which can detect abnormalities or calcifications as small as 1mm. which may be located deep within the breast and are incapable of being felt during a physical exam or breast self-exam," he said. "The high quality of the technique produces images that provide clear and precise data of the breast and surrounding tissue."

Dr. Sites emphasized at least four advantages of the new Choate-Symmes program:

(1) Choate-Symmes has the facilities to offer mammograms on a private and personal basis. Unlike some hospitals, where women are assigned to booths in the same room, Choate-Symmes allows only one woman in imaging room at one time.

(2) Because Choate and Symmes have the expertise and equipment required, there is no longer any reason why women should be inconvenienced by travel into Boston.

(3) Because Choate-Symmes has a lower volume than in-town medical centers, the radiologists are available immediately after the exam to discuss any concerns and answer any questions the patient may have.

(4) Unlike some hospitals where appointments must be made up to two months in advance, the Choate-Symmes staff makes every effort to schedule appointments within two weeks.

Dr. Sites said that a woman does not have to be under the care of a physician on the Choate-Symmes Medical Staff to have a mammogram at Choate-Symmes. Any physician in the area may refer a patient to the community hospitals. A report and the actual films, if requested, will be forwarded to the physician.

Further, Choate-Symmes continues to maintain a reasonable cost structure in order to put the screening within the reach of all women. Mammograms are scheduled Monday through Friday by appointment.

"While the majority of breast disease is not malignant, early detection of any growth, followed by diagnosis and treatment, is vital," Dr. Sites stressed in encouraging all women 20 to 40 to practice breast self-exam monthly and to have their breast examined by a physician as part of their annual physical. When breast cancer is discovered and treated in its earliest stages (indicated by a mass no larger than one-half centimeter), there is a 90 percent chance for a ten-year survival; one to two centimeter lesions offer, at best, a 75 to 80 percent survival chance.

Between exams, any changes in the breasts, including lumps, thickening, swelling, puckering, dimpling, skin irritation, distortion, or scaliness of the nipples, nipple discharge, pain or tenderness, should be brought to the immediate attention of one's physician.

Reluctance to have annual mammograms because of fear of overexposure to radiation should be dispelled. In an article in the July-August, 1984, issue of "Cancer" magazine, the ACS states that recent advances in diagnostic accuracy and lower radiation doses have made mammography safe.

2ND TIME

A "Second Surrender" Sobriety Group is forming for individuals who are reliably sober in A.A., and are encountering increasing inner conflict and emotional distress - who are "hitting bottom" in sobriety. Commencing Wednesday evenings in September, this group will provide a safe, ongoing, professional setting in which the "second surrender" process can be weathered and worked through. For more information call Stephen Merriman, Alcohol Clinician, Eliot Community Mental Health Center, Community Agencies Bldg., Concord, Ma. 01742. Phone 369-1113 or 259-8054.

PHOBIA SOCIETY

The Phobia Society of America has recently approved the charter of a local chapter, The Greater Boston Phobia Society.

The Phobia Society of America is a national non-profit organization providing information and educational services for individuals who suffer from phobias. The local chapter, which will be operated by volunteer laypeople and professinals, will provide referral and educational services for the public regarding the prevention and treatment of phobias.

For more information regarding the services of the Phobia Society or the Chapter, interested persons may write to: The Greater Boston Phobia Society, 74 Reservoir Street, Cambridge, Ma. 02138 or call (617) 492-5163.

NATURE WALKS FOR CHILDREN

Preschool, elementary and middle school-aged groups can explore the woodland, Lost Pond, and brook areas at the Garden in the Woods in Framingham. Each group makes "Discovery Stops" in order to use their senses (touch, sight, sound, and smell); participates in related activities; and discusses basic concepts.

The walk lasts approximately an hour and a quarter, and will cover ½ to ¾ of a mile. Because the terrain is hilly, the first part of the walk is downhill with the return part uphill.

Tours are available Tuesday-Friday by reservation for sic or more children. Tour Fee: $2.00 per child. For information call: Barbara Pryor, Tour Coordinator, (617) 877-7630 or 237-4924. For families who cannot take a tour, there is an illustrated, informative booklet, The Lost Pond Trail, that is coordinated with markers in the woodlands.

Garden in the Woods, New England Wild Flower Society Headquarters, Hemenway Road, Framingham. Information/events line 877-6574. Grounds, exhibits, plant sales, and gift shop open Tuesday-Sunday, 9 a.m. - 4 p.m. Closed Monday. Library open Tuesday-Friday, 9 a.m. - 5 p.m. Admission: Adults $3.50, Seniors and children $2.50. Members free. Grounds close on October 31.

CHILDREN OF SINGLE PARENT FAMILIES

The Young People's Beginning Experience is a structured weekend program designed to help young people between the ages of eight and seventeen understand, process and work through the problems resulting from parental loss and life in a single parent family.

The Young People's Beginning Experience takes place from Friday evening to Sunday afternoon. It consists of a series of audio-visual presentations, personal talks by teenagers, small group sharing and structured activities designed to focus on the realities of personal development, loss, the single parent family, and relationship with God. The weekend enables the young people to develop self-awareness and self-confidence through re-evaluating themselves and their families in a more positive light. The uniqueness and importance of each individual is communicated through the warm and caring weekend atmosphere.

The next scheduled YPBE weekend is October 18-20. For more information and registration, call as soon as possible: Sr. Jean Plausky (986-8696 - days, 871-4412 - evenings) or Ann Young (486-4638 - evenings).

CREATIVE WRITING

On Monday evenings from 8:00 to 10:25 P.M. Newbury College will be offering a Creative Writing course at the Wakefield Junior High School. The course will help students move beyond their current level of writing ability into a more experimental and creative realm. At the outset, each student will work in each of the genres (essay, poetry, fiction and drama) but eventually concentraate on the area of their choice.

Newbury is a two year college fully accredited by the New England Association of Schools and Colleges. Individual courses, specialized certificates and Associate Degrees are available in the Manogies, Fashion and Interior Design, Hotel and Restaurant Management, Computer Science and Paralegal fields.

Fall classes begin September 23rd and any one interested in attending is encouraged to contact Joan Fontaine, the Wakefield Campus Director, by phone or stop by the Admissions Office located in the Wakefield Building, 7 Lincoln Street, Wakefield.

FINANCIAL PLANNING SEMINAR

Tips on how to keep inflaton and taxes from eroding purchasing power will be the subject of a personal financial planning seminar Thursday, September 12 at 7:30 at the Holiday Inn, Commerce Way, Woburn.

The seminar is sponsored by Geoffrey H. Simons, Personal Financial Planner, with IDS Financial Services Inc. the nationwide personal financial planning firm whose local office is at 380 Lowell Street, Wakefield.

The need for financial and estate planning is greater than ever now in the wake of major changes in the tax laws, according to Simons. Changes in tax law will be discussed as part of the seminar.

"The impact of the tax laws affects each person differently," he said. "This makes it all the more important for a person to get together with financial planning specialists and take a fresh look at estate and personal finances to get the most savings out of the tax changes."

"Financial planning also can help prevent the tax savings from dribbling away into the household budget," Simons added. "The extra money a person saves on taxes can be the start of a program to reach financial goals," he said.

Simons said that his financial and estate planning seminar is free, but reservations are recommended. To register for the seminar contact Simons at 245-2282.

Minutemen camp

8th-degree karate belt), Brian DiVasta, 12, and John Pijoan, 16. Mercifully, the tumult of accumulating North Reading scouts stopped short of the entire group of 27 scouts and two adult leaders.

They knew, of course, who Davey Crockett was: "A national frontiersman who got wasted at the Alamo," according to Randy Paiva.

Parker Mountain this summer received its second-year-in-a-row highest "A" rating after a rigorous inspection by a team from the national BSA organization, according to Reservation Director Steve Maher of Wakefield.

The camp also received high praise from other impartial "outsiders," a group of scouts and troop leaders from Cape Cod, who, though well beyond the Minuteman Council's sphere of jurisdiction, have come to Parker Mountain from the past two years. Said Phil Moss, assistant scoutmaster from Yarmouthport, "We are totally impressed with the camp, the facilities, the programs offered, and the way the staff follows up its programs."

Fellow Yarmouthport assistant scoutmaster Jim St-Pierre agreed: "The quality here is excellent, throughout."

Conversation with Winchester's Larry Vernaglia, 16, who chose the "Reservation Troop," which is a blend of scouts from different troops, led to talk of near-disaster. Vernaglia had attended, this summer, the 11th National BSA Jamboree, held every four years at Fort A. P. Hill, Virginia.

Struck by Hurricane Rob, the Jamboree received national press attention in July. Vernaglia said his camp was among the worst hit, "because we were on a hill, with all but two of our tents knocked flat."

Some 20,000 sleeping bags had to be sent out to be dried, Vernaglia added.

Assistant Scoutmaster Don Davis, of Medford, came even closer to disaster than Vernaglia at the Jamboree. Davis, who spent 36 hours in wet clothes after the storm, said his campsite was totally flattened. One of the gateways (made from thick trees posted deep in the ground) landed on his tent. Another came down in the high winds, he said, and missed him by about a foot.

"But the kids throughout the Jamboree really surprised us," Davis added. "They did a fantastic job of recovery from the devastation of the hurricane, handling the emergency aftermath extremely well."

From the discomfort of tenting in high winds and heavy rains, it's a quick step of contrast to all, or nearly all, the comforts of home established at Parker Mountain's Reservation Troop, by Dave Anastasi of Woburn. The 15-year-old scout patrol leader's hillside tent caught the eye because of its oak dresser, portable Sony stereo AM-FM radio and tapedeck, and a carved, crescent-moon wooden lamp. As an adjunct to the tent, he had built a wooden porch, whose comfortable bentwood chair he yeielded to a tired writer who'd had only two hours sleep the night before.

Anastasi, whose enthusiasm for scouting has steadily grown in his six-year participation in the BSA, displays an equally steady intelligence and courtesy unusual in one so young. A confirmed "Dungeons and Dragons" addict, he confessed after yielding his chair that he'd got NO sleep the night before.

The scouts from Reservation Troop interviewed were universal in their preference for the mixed-troop concept which Reservation supplies. Anastasi stressed that "it's a richer experience, since you can meet new people," and Winchester's Peter Pezaris liked "the casualness of it."

A battle of the bands was underway during part of the visit to Reservation Troop. A child of the 60s, I had to lean towards Anastasi's classic Beatles — over the combined might of some other tents' output of "Heavy Metal," Billy Idol, and "Motley Cru."

It was time to move to the barbecue in any case, and an introduction to two of the international staff members. (We'd missed the English and Austrian visitors, by the way, some of whom, Anastasi explained, had modified punk haircuts and unmodified taste in punk-rock music.)

First-met was Kieran Malone of Dublin City, cousin and nephew to the Patrick Malone family of Winchester. The 18-year-old Malone holds the Chief Scout's Award in Ireland, which he explained is of the same caliber as Eagle Scout in this country, self-described as an iced-coffee freak, he said he couldn't think of a single thing he doesn't like about scouting, but described it as the "three F's: fun, fun and more fun."

Andrew Gaule, the Welsh member of the staff, who assisted this summer on the ropes course and as stand-in nurse at Parker Mountain, expressed what appeared to be unqualified pleasure with the Americans he's met — though Malone was prone to gentle Irish satire of American visitors: "Back home, we find it amusing to see American tourists who are obsessed with the association of 'Irish' and 'green.' We always know when it's American tourists coming towards us because they think they're supposed to dress in bright green.

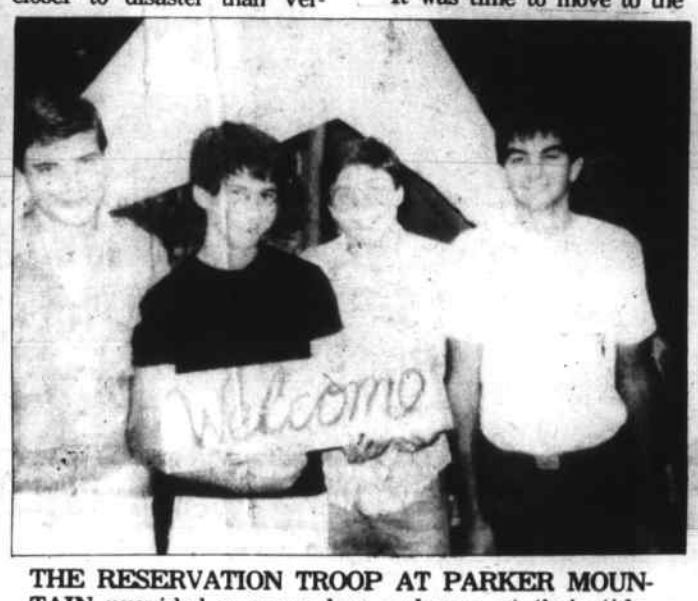

The need for individual and group co-operation, the earning of merit badges, and the vast number of educational and recreational programs at the reservation lead, ideally, to a broader contribution to the larger society, they added.

Not to mention, of course, the occasional three F's of Kieran Malone:

Fun, fun, and more fun.

PARKER MOUNTAIN RESERVATION TROOP provides scouts informality, casualness, and the chance to meet new scouts to enrich the summer camp experience. Above, Dave Anastasi, left, of Woburn, and Winchester's Larry Vernaglia listen to the guitar-strumming of Daniel Lovering of Lincoln.

The course, meeting on Wednesdays from 7-9 p.m. from September 18 through October 23, is designed to inspire the writer by way of letter, poem, story-telling, dialogue and essays. Participants will be able to develop a portfolio of short writing pieces reflecting their own life experiences.

Dr. Sides, who served as college physician from 1979-1983, has discoverd that "you can get a really different perspective on yourself by writing about your experiences." When her husband became seriously ill in 1981, she wrote and published a limited edition book about the experience, entitled "A Fragment of the Time" (available in the Salem, Marblehead and Salem State College libraries).

In order to refine her writing skills, she also enrolled in Salem State's new Writing Concentration, part of the Master of Arts in English program, and attended the Eastern Writers' Conference at the college.

"I was inspired by some very good teachers," Dr. Sides says. For her independent M.A. project, she is collecting a book of essays in which she hopes to include what she learns from teaching "Writing for Insight."

Dr. Sides says tht she is enthusiastic about teaching the new course because she wants to help others learn how to write about their experiences (such as a family illness) or major changes in their lives.

"Writing for Insight" is not a psychology course, however. Dr. Sides wants to assist participants in writing about crucial life experiences, and perhaps, in the process, clarifying them.

For registration details, call the Division of Graduate and Continuing Education 745-0556, ext. 2315.

QUILTING

The North Parish Quilters (A Chapter of the New England Quilters Guild) announce their first meeting of the season on Thursday, September 5, at 7:30 P.M. at the Union Congregational Church, Haverhill Street, North Reading.

FREE EXAM & $25 FOR VOLUNTEERS

A free comprehensive personal dental evaluation and $25 will be given to individuals who volunteer to participate in a dental research study conducted by Forsyth Dental Center in Boston, one of the largest nonprofit oral health research and educational centers in the world.

The study will involve two visits of approximately one hour to Forsyth, located next to the Museum of Fine Arts and easily accessible by MBTA or auto.

Volunteers must be from 50 to 60 years of age and have at least 10 natural teeth. No x-rays are involved and the examinations are simple and painless, requiring samples of saliva, plaque and blood. Participants will also be asked questions about diet.

Individuals interested in participating in this important dental study should contact: Peggy Reska, Forsyth Dental Center, 140 the Fenway, Boston, Mass. 02115, phone 262-5200, ext. 368, from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

QUIT SMOKING

The successful Five Day Plan to Stop Smoking will again be offered by New England Memorial Hospital in Stoneham.

The course meets for five consecutive nights, Sunday, September 22 through Thursday, September 26, from 7:00-8:30 p.m. in the Administrative Services Building on the grounds of NEMH.

Class members will receive motivational insights and learn effective techniques to quit smoking and get through the withdrawal process. A professional staff, including a physician and health educator will give participants instructions on changing their daily routine to become completely independent of tobacco.

Fee for the Five Day Plan is $45.00. Contact the Health Education department at 665-1740, ext. 426 for additional information.

CALIFORNIA SUITE AUDITIONS

The Silver Lake Spotlighters will hold auditions for the Neil Simon comedy California Suite on Tuesday and Wednesday, September 10 and 11, 7:30 p.m. at the Joyce Junior High School, Locust Street, Woburn.

A warm and funny sampler, the play consists of four vingettes that show off Simon at his compassionate best. Director Celia Bartolotti will cast each vingette separately.

"Visitor From New York" concerns Hannah Warren, an intelligent and sophisticated woman in her early 40s, whose wit often covers her uncertainties, and her ex-husband, William, a laid-back West Coast type. They meet to decide with whom their daughter will live and the barbs fly fast and furiously. Hannah scores again and again, but, finally her flip front crumbles, revealing her fear of losing her daughter's affection and her own vulnerability.

"Visitor From Philadelphia" is physical comedy at its best as Marvin Michaels, a happily married man who wakes up with a gargantuan hangover and a hooker in his bed, tries first to stash and then to explain her to his wife Millie.

"Visitors From London" takes place on the night of the Academy Awards with Diana Nichols, a 'serious' British actress nominated for her role in a 'nauseating little comedy', nervously awaiting the results. When she and her husband, Sidney, return from the ceremonies without an Oscar, she needs a kind of comfort that Sidney is unable to give.

In "Visitors From Chicago", four friends - Mort and Beth Hollander and Stu and Gert Franklin - are winding up a vacation they never hould have shared. They end up miserable and hating each other in this farce that features one disaster after another.

For further information about the auditions, contact Kelley O'Leary, 643-7615 (evenings).

UNIVERSITY WOMEN

The Bedford-Lexington Area Branch of the American Association of University Women (AAUW) will hold its annual membership gala on Wednesday, September 11 at 7:30 p.m. in the music room at the Minuteman Vocational and Technical High School, 758 Marrett Road in Lexington.

Susan Minor, pianist and teacher, will be the featured guest performer. Ms. Minor is a graduate of Syracuse University. She also received a Master of Education degree from Boston University and a Master of Performance degree from New England Conservatory. Ms. Minor's background in music and education is quite extensive. She currently teaches in the New England Conservatory Extension Division, works with mentally retarded individuals as a music therapist and is an accompanist for the Concord Chorus.

The AAUW, the largest and oldest national organization working for the advancement of women, is composed of women graduates using their educational skills to promote academic opportunities for women, through workshops, seminars, and special fellowship programs.

The Bedford-Lexington Area Branch of the AAUW includes members from Arlington, Bedford, Belmont, Billerica, Boxborough, Burlington, Carlisle, Concord, Chelmsford, Lexington, Lincoln, Lowell, Waltham, Westford, Winchester and Woburn.

The public is welcome to attend. For further information, please contact Claire Griffiths at 369-6329.

FLEA MARKET

For the eighth consecutive year, the Telephone Pioneers of America, Thomas Sherwin Chapter, is hosting the Annual Telephone Pioneers' Flea Market. The event will be held at AT&T's (formerly Western Electric's) parking lot at 705 Mt. Auburn Street, Watertown, on Saturday, September 7, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. In case of inclement weather the rain date for the Flea Market will be Saturday, September 14.

Metro Police

manhole cover dug into the ground of the training course so that the horses will get the feel of walking over them and not "spook" at the difference in sounds.

Two rather unique pieces of equipment used at the school were developed especially for the Metro's unit and have been the subject of study by other police departments, including the newly formed Houston Police Mounted Patrol.

These are a short tunnel designed to get the horses used to the difference between light and dark, and a teeter board that is just as important to the rider as it is to the horse.

Smith explained while watching officer Jack Pagliccia use the board with his horse, Pashar, that the horse gets the feeling of having the ground give way under it and, more importantly, the rider can learn what to expect in the way of reaction from the animal.

Men and horses learn to work together at the Metro school

This can be important while on patrol, especially in the many wooded areas surrounding the reservoirs that come under the Metro's jurisdiction.

Is all this training worthwhile?

The answer can be found by asking the people in the City of Lynn, where for the last five years working a special shift, the Metro's have contributed to the clean-up of Lynn Beach and the surrounding neighborhood because of the mobility of the horses. It has been proven that they can go where even motorcycles cannot maneuver, and much quicker than an officer on foot.

During a normal eight-hour shift, the patrol is usually concerned with the areas around the Winchester Reservoir, Spot Pond and the High Service Reservoir in Stoneham, as well as the Mystic Lakes and Sandy Beach in Winchester.

Among the statistics gathered by the patrol, it has participated this year alone in both a rape and murder investigation. Both incidents took place around the High Service Reservoir behind the New England Memorial Hospital in Stoneham.

The officers and men of the Middlesex Fells Mounted unit were responsible for 105 arrests during 1984, with 12 assists recorded to fire departments in the area.

The patrol is responsible for the recovery of $7,000 in property.

Much of the reason for the intense patrol of the reservoir areas is to make sure that the public drinking supplies that they represent are kept free from pollution caused by illegal swimming; however, the swimmers are also protected against the danger of drowning that they put themselves in when they use out-of-the-way and unsafe waters.

A very real problem that the patrol faced about 10 years ago was the threat of poisoning of the reservoirs.

The unit is not just a fair-weather friend either; they patrol all year long unless the weather is too cold or there is too much snow on the ground for safety.

Although funding has been officially cut back for this activity, another benefit of the patrol is the fire patrols that they become while on their normal duties in the heavily wooded areas.

As Smith explained, "We probably have to be as versatile as anyone."

As for the future of the patrol, they are looking to add 15 new horses this fall. However, this can be a long process as 35 horses were tried for the job last year before four were finally picked.

Getting riders for the horses takes time also. Smith reported that for two openings in the unit over 60 officers applied.

doing that — they are out there laughing and dancing and having a good time. So if you can't beat them, join them.

I received a card from my friend, Rev. Martin Ryan, S.J. from Spain, where he is on vacation. Father Martin is from St. Margaret's Church in Burlington. Spain contributed many famous people to the world and to America. Fr. Sierra, with other Franciscan priests established many missions in California. The Sierra Nevada Mountain range in California is named for Fr. Sierra.

Folks, we can't all be Indian chiefs. Someone must perform so-called menial but important work. We are all inter-dependent on one another; the doctor needs a carpenter to repair his roof and the carpenter needs the doctor to bandage his banged finger. Just think for a moment, if all the preachers and all the rubbish collectors went on strike at the same time — truthfully — who would you miss first? My wife Kathy ran after their truck this morning, shouting, "Hey, wait! Am I too late for the rubbish?" The foreman took one look at her hair done up in curlers and snapped right back with, "No, lady, jump right in!"

I could walk up a gangway of a destroyer, cruiser or carrier years ago and instantly tell the caliber of the man in command and the discipline of the crew. The officers and men of anny ship are a true mirror, reflecting an image of the character of the man in charge. The same is true of a state, city or a business establishment.

I can tell when I'm entering Winchester, Reading, Lynnfield, etc. The streets show by their maintenance that they have a dedicated public works crew. The lawns, houses and grounds are well-groomed and the general atmosphere of the citizens is one of pride in their city or town.

I asked Uncle John Shea "Were you born in North Reading?" "Yes," he said. "What part, Uncle John?" "All of me!" was his answer.

A neighbor of mine took an iron pill a day for years, then one day he was caught in a rain storm and since then he has slowly rusted away.

I have always advocated buying an American-made car. But I'm seriously of getting a foreign one, because after many tune-ups, my car still gets 10 miles to a gallon. This car was built either on a Monday, Friday, or during coffee breaks.

Jimmy Fanikos of Melrose has discovered a secret formula that will make a sluggish car "Go-oooo faster. It's a mixture of gasoline and Castor Oil."

Woodchips

By ANTHONY MANCONI

I asked the automobile salesman who sold me my car, "What must I do to say that I get 25 miles to the gallon?" He looked at me, smiled, then said, "Woodchipper, lie like the others do!" It came with an air-tight guarantee. If any air should ever leak out of the tires it would be replaced free of charge. Don't be fooled like I was with a 24-40 warrantee: it generally means 24 months or 40 feet, whichever comes first.

Almost everybody remembers Tony Conigliaro and his brother Bill — both of them were major league baseball players who could field, hit and run. Well, I recently met their younger brother, Richard, who I saw play in a charity game. He hit the ball a country mile and his fielding was flawless. What was more important to me was the friendliness of this young man. I am honored to call Richard and his lovely wife Candy friends of Woodchips.

If I was a judge in a beauty contest, I would have to disqualify myself if Miss Michele Nottebart was a contestant, because I would be tempted to vote for her as the winner without looking at the others. The reason is that I know Michele — she has poise, beauty and personality plus. Perhaps her greatest attribute is her "joie de vivre," which makes her an outstanding young lady indeed.

My wife went to the beauty parlor. For three days she looked beautiful, then "mud" fell off.

Long-winded sermons, speeches or debates are like a ship without a rudder, a kit without a stabilizing tail or a leaking faucet that won't shut off.

President Roosevelt had the right idea when he said, "There are three important factors that an audience looks for in a good speech: Be sincere — be brief — and be seated!" I'll add one word to a philosophy that I firmly believe in — "Amen."

English teachers may omit reading this chip if they wish. On a recent visit to a cousin of mine in New York, I asked a cabby, "333 3rd Avenue, please." Do youse mean, tree hunert and thoity-tree thoid avenue?" Then he looked at me and added, "Boy, do youse guys from Boston, moider the mudder tung." If I had only taped that, I would have sent it to Miss Sullivan, my former English teacher who flunked me. When I got out of the taxi, I gave the driver a parting shot, saying, "Do you hear that boid choiping? They sound just like that in Bawston!"

A society woman obtained a cat from the Humane Society. She called back the next day, saying the cat was a bird-killer, so she was returning it because she couldn't have a bird-killer in the house. She also added that for the trouble of taking the cat back, her husband would make a sizeable contribution to the society when he got back from a deer hunting trip.

Dean and Robin Murphy are personal friends of mine and fans of Woodchips. I'm happy to say that most of the readers of this column are like this wonderful couple: "wonderful."

I must admit there are some who hate the column and my Aunt Maria from Wilmington is their cheerleader. That's okay because I know I can't please everybody.

Folks, it isn't worth carrying a grudge because while you're

The Heavenly Kid
The Black Cauldron

The Heavenly Kid Starring Lewis Smith, Jane KaczMarek, Jason Gedrick, Richard Mulligan. Directed by Cary Medoway. Produced by Mort Engelberg. Written by Medoway and Martin Copeland. Rated PG-13 (profanity, some violence, nothing too graphic).

The most mindless movies always seem to be released in the summer. So, The Heavenly Kid fits right in with the influx of grade B hot weather stuff that fill in during the weeks there are no major openings.

It's not that this flick is particularly annoying or in the least bit offensive, but it borders on being occasionally assinine and constantly silly. However, mediocrity is not a mortal sin, and it is obvious that everyone involved had their hearts in the right place in this ghostly tale of a teen angel and a modern day nerd.

Lewis Smith plays the young spectre, and as a slick and confident greaser who gets bumped off in a car accident, he is quite amusing. He is sent to earth nearly 20 years after his firery departure, and in order to be sent on to heaven from his purgatory, known as Midtown, he must take on an assignment proving he is capable of being selfless and loving.

His mortal charge, played by Jason Gedrick, though a little bland, is entertaining enough. The problem lies in the script more than anything else, as the sub-plots become long and dull while a supposed twist in the storyline is too easily spotted before it occurs. Also, shame, shame on director, co-writer Cary Medoway for an ending so corny it could have been served up during a clam bake. We haven't seen such warmed-over mush in a friendly phantom tale since James Mason payed a spirited visit of Lucille Ball and Desi Arnaz in a 1956 piece of otherworldly fluff known as Forever Darling.

The really good news about this pic is that Richard Mulligan plays a scruffy angel on wheels named Rafferty. He rides a morotcycle, swills beer and is adorned by a weather-beaten, ratty ponch and World War I flying goggles. He is the most likeable character in The Heavenly Kid, and makes you kind of hope that heaven really is full of gruff old angels who serve you linguini and beer when you arrive at the pearly gates.

Filmmaker Medoway also has some interesting ideas of heaven, although the escalator we have seen before. However, the idea of purgatory being a bar in an area called Midtown is as cute as the neon sign outside the bar bearing the immortal words, "We never close." Also, the fact that Midtown is crowded and Lewis' character must ride a train for 20 years until his assignment can be found is a diverting method of dealing with phantasmic crowd control.

But the bottom line is that anyone in need of a pleasant cinematic haunting should simply catch the black and white classic, Here Comes Mr. Jordan (1941), which is as good as spectre stories get. Just leave The Heavenly Kid for the 12-14 year olds who won't drown in it's sticky sentimentality.

The Black Cauldron Voices by John Hurt, Freddie Jones, John Byner, Grant Bardsley, Susan Sheridan, Nigel Hawthorne. Directed by Ted Berman and Richard Rich. Produced by Joe Hale. Based on "The Chronicles of Prydain" series by Lloyd Alexander. Rated PG (scary characters and some violence).

Walt Disney can finally stop rolling over in his grave, as the Disney studios have produced something worthy of his name. The Black Cauldron has all of the charisma and electrifying escapism that were basic elements of the studio's earlier, animated features.

Shot in 70mm film and with each of the 115,000 frames of film going through 33 separate stages, this is a richly textured picture, and quite unlike the flat, dreary stuff we have seen in the past few releases.

After the melifluous introduction by John Huston, we meet Taran, an assistant pig keeper who dreams of glory and fame as a warrior. He gets to fulfill his yen for battle when he locks horns, literally with a gruesome death-like character known as the Horned King, whose richly evil voice is provided by John Hurt.

Animation is highlight of Disney film

The Horned King, with his glowing red eyes, far surpasses the wickedness in the tradition of the step-mother in Cinderella, and "wants to be a god among mortal men" His wish can come true in he gets his hand of the omnipotent black cauldron before our young hero, Taran finds it. The Horned King is a pretty ferocious fellow, and he may be too frightening for children under the age of five. Actually, there are several tense, even scary moments that would keep the tots away, but make the film all the more captivating for the rest of us.

On the cuter side of things is a furry, cowardly rascal known as Gurgi and an army of Tinker Bell sized fairies that ocud enchant even the most cynical heart. They are colorful and fanciful and full of the kind of charm that makes you sit in the dark with the damdnest grin on your face.

Not only has the depth, detail and color of animation been improved by technology, but feminism, of sorts, has reached the Disney studios. The Princess Eilonwy bridles at being called a "mere girl" by Taran, and retorts with a shaking fist that was greeted with rwsounding laughter and applause by the audience. A nice touch to what was already a five star picture.

Over 150 sellers will be on hand for the event offering for sale a wide variety of merchandise including antiques, furniture, ceramics, clothing, wood crafts, tools, collectibles and telephone memorabilia. A good chance for shopping for good buys at bargain prices. Last year the Flea Market attracted over 5,000 shoppers.

The Telephone Pioneers of America is an international organization of over 500,000 members which supports hundreds of charitable organizations and events throughout the United States and Canada. The proceeds for hosting the Flea Market will be used to benefit a variety of Pioneer charitable causes in the Greater Boston area.

There are still a few seller spaces available and you can reserve one by calling 743-6609, Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Cost per space is $15.

FREE FALL CALENDAR OF EVENTS

As part of the state's year-round "Spirit of Massachusetts" tourism campaign, a free Fall Calendar of Events is now available from the Massachusetts Division of Tourism.

The September through November calendar presents over 250 fairs, festivals and celebrations in the cities, counryside and seashore of Massachusetts; from the colors of Fall Foliage festivals in the Berkshires to the brillance of Renoir's paintings at the Boston Museum of Fine Arts, from the celebration of the apple harvest in Ipswich to the harvesting of scallops on Cape Cod and the islands. Events include: fall foliage festivals, celebrations of the harvest, historical reenactments, antique shows, performing arts, regattas, fishing derbies and more.

MARKET MILLS

On September 14 and 15, the Market Mills Courtyard in Lowell will come alive with the diverse creative work of fine New England artisans, including country primitive cutouts, Shaker and Colonial reproductions, small wood carving and sculpture, gold and silver jewelry, and appliques wall hangings in turn-of-the-century motifs. All these exhibitors and many more will be part of the Yesteryear Arts and Crafts Show at Market Mills Courtyard, presented by the Sailor & Princess and sponsored by the Lowelll Historic Preservation Commission.

Directors and organizers of the show, Richard and Marilyn Tenenoff from Pittsfield, N.H., are known in the trade as "The Sailor & Princess". They have developed a reputation for presenting fine professional arts and crafts shows for over six years, primarily in the Boston and upstate New York areas. "The historical significance of Lowell intrigues us, and the enthusiasm of its people is refreshing", the Teneoffs explain. "We look forward to interesting and exciting shows in the courtyard at Market Mills both this year and in the years to come."

Market Mills is a restored mill complex on the site of one of Lowell's original textile corporations. It houses an art gallery and stuios where highly creative artists ply their visionary magic; a gift, craft and souvenir shop; and seven international food booths under one roof. Also in Market Mills is the bustling Lowell National Historical Park/Lowell Heritage State Park Visitors Center, with its exhibit and slide show about the city's vital role as the nation's first great industrial center. Twenty-one free daily tours originate from the Visitors Center exploring Lowell's mills and canals by turn-of-the-century trolley and canal barge.

Grandparents' Day next Sunday

Grandparent's Day is one of the newest celebrations honoring family members. Traditionally, it is on the first Sunday after Labor Day.

"It really is a special kind fo day. It's a day to honor and demonstrate how important grandparents really are," said John Koniares, owner of the Kernwood-at-Lynnfield restaurant.

"Grandparents Day is a day to bring family members of all ages together" observed John Koniares.

The Kernwood-At-Lynnfield will be open on Grandparents Day offering its full menu selection.

Income taxes

If you've wondered why there is an April 15th to worry about, it all started when the 16th amendment to the Constitution was ratified on Feb. 25, 1913. It said, "Congress shall have the power to collect taxes on incomes from whatever source derived, without apportionment among the several states and without regard to any census or enumeration."

Golden State

The name of California was bestowed on the Golden State by the conquistadors (possibly by Cortez), it was the name of an imaginary island, an earthly paradise, in a Spanish romance written by Montalvo in 1510. Baja (lower) California is a state in Mexico, and at one time the present U.S. state was called Alta California.

Money

The largest denomination of U.S. currency now being issued is the $100 bill. Issuance of currency in denominations of $500, $1,000, $5,000 and $10,000 has been discontinued because their use has declined sharply over the past two decades.
